

council will act according to the rules," was Dr. Morton's reply. The statement offered by the council was prepared before the meeting, giving indication that all had been prepared to oust Dr. Schmidt. The statement explained that "the decision of the council and its ethical relations committee rested solely upon a violation of the principles of medical ethics."

"These principles," the document continued, "are binding upon all reputable physicians and are intended primarily to safeguard the interests of patients by defining the relation of the physician to his patient, to other practitioners, and to the public."

The statement then cited the principles of medical ethics which the council held applicable to Dr. Schmidt's case, including the society's ban on direct advertising and another principle which holds "it is unprofessional for a physician to dispose of his services under conditions that make it impossible to render adequate service to his patients."

This last principle, so far as its application to Dr. Schmidt is concerned, was not explained.

Advertising Not to Be Tolerated.

The controversy regarding the Public Health Institute, the statement resumed, "is traceable directly to the advertising methods by which patients are attracted to it. No self-respecting profession tolerates self-exploitation by its members by advertising; even many high standing commercial organizations, like the New York stock exchange, will not allow this. Nor is it ethical for a physician to be connected directly with an institution that advertises medical service to the public."

"Dr. Schmidt's connection with the Public Health Institute, through its association with the Illinois Social Hygiene League, of which Dr. Schmidt is president, caused the council of the Chicago Medical Society to discipline him in the way it has done."

Ready to Serve Poor.

The council's statement, explaining that physicians cannot control costs of medical care except for their own fees, is as follows:

"The Chicago Medical Society, which comprises in its membership 4,500 physicians of Cook county, would say, in answer to certain newspaper statements regarding the alleged inadequacy of medical care now available to the person of moderate means, that its members are ready and willing to serve all citizens of Cook county irrespective of their economic status."

"The Chicago Medical Society is not a union, it does not insist that its members shall demand standard fees regardless of the economic condition of the patient. As far as it is in their power the members take care of the sick for what they can afford to pay, and it deprecates as much as the public the high cost of illness, which is due only in part to the medical fees."

"The profession is jealous of its traditions and its record of service, and on the basis of these it protests against attempts to impugn its good faith at this time and to fasten upon it the stigma of refusing to meet its social and humanitarian obligations."

Dr. Schmidt was read out of the society even before he had opportunity to express his desire to appeal to the council against the report of the ethical relations committee. When he rose, after the council had approved the report, and reminded them that he was entitled, under the by-laws of the society, to appeal to the general council, he was allowed to read his plea. Though he asked for a full hearing and a trial, the council simply took a new vote immediately and ousted him over again.

Dr. Schmidt Defends Medical Philanthropies as Ethical

Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, noted physician, appeared before the council of the Chicago Medical Society last night to defend his efforts to give the middle class the benefit of clinical service at moderate cost. He demanded a full hearing on the charge that his conduct had been unethical in his efforts to give the public such service. His statement, read after the vote was taken to oust him, followed:

"I desire to take an appeal from the report of the ethical relations committee, and I hereby respectfully request that the issue in my case be tried before the general council of the Chicago Medical Society. I am ready for trial, tonight, tomorrow, or at any time suiting your convenience. There is so much at stake in this controversy — to the general public as well as to the entire medical profession — that it is my hope to carry on the struggle, for what I humbly assert to be a vital principle, to the medical council of last resort."

Must Reduce Medical Cost.

"I have awaited in silence the passing of judgment by your committee on ethical relations. Since they have sought to condemn me, I know all you will bear with me a moment or two, now, to hear me state my position."

"I am not alone when I say that the profession must quickly bring down the inexcusably high costs of medical care. I also have noted that other men, high in our profession, have said that organizations formed by physicians to bring down these costs may use advertising without sacrificing professional ethics, and without causing unfair competition in medicine."

"I would be the last to engage in unfair competition against my brother physicians. Any of you who know me, and the men whom I have trained in my practice, will bear witness that I have always given my time and energy to help the young physician to success, and to help him to make himself prosperous. We cannot make all doctors rich by forming a trade union. Ours is a profession, not a trade."

"We must keep on trying to help the medical man's lot. But we must pay eventually will be handed to Washington for war debts."

Demand Mueller Restraint.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] BERLIN, April 9.—After the Centrists had decamped from the cabinet to avoid the responsibility for the reparations negotiations in Paris, the Socialist party today tried to force its leader, Hermann Mueller, to resign as chancellor and thus free the Socialists from the responsibility of future reparations payments.

As a result of the impasse and at the suggestion of Chairman Ovan D. Young, the delegates referred their bills to a group of technical experts who will seek to conciliate them with Dr. Hjalmar Schacht's outside figure. With the conference state mated because the allies will not reduce their demands, the French press is bitterly criticizing the United States for not making concessions, stressing the fact that 90 per cent of what Germany not buy him prosperity at the cost of the sick. Let us not break down the reverence of patients for their physician and turn our noble calling into commercialism.

"The time will come when both the profession and the public will be better served. If we organize to bring the cost of hospital, laboratory and medical care within the purs of all that great majority of our people known as the middle classes, you will see that all reputable, capable physicians will prosper greatly."

"Such a plan will take the business of meeting the health problems of these people with small incomes away from quacks, charlatans and patent medicine vendors, who now prey upon a public which has no other place to turn."

"The millions of dollars now given to these disreputable quacks will then be given to medical men. Honest, ethical physicians will be treating these thousands of sick people, because the cost of that treatment will be lowered, and because we shall find the means, by ethical advertising, to lead them away from the quacks and to our profession."

Charity Is Defended.

"The Illinois Social Hygiene League, of which I am president and chief medical officer, is a charitable organization. We give free treatments to thousands of unfortunate, men, women and children, who have become afflicted with social diseases as a result of the spread of the disease which has been the ruin of nations, is waning."

"Through our connections with the Public Health Institute we have been able to increase our efficiency many fold. Is it wrong for medical men to accept help for charitable organizations so they may aid humanity? Must I stop that work because the Public Health Institute through its lay trustees, advertises the perils of venereal disease?"

"I cannot do it. I ask that you councilors of the Chicago Medical Society recognize my position as ethical, and that you here and now launch the movement which will bring the great art of medicine within the reach of the masses."

Dr. Schmidt's statement was met with a cold reception by the council members. Dr. Fisher, long a leader in the members' group, as "lacking a sense of gentleness and propriety."

Heated clashes between speakers are expected to enliven a mass meeting of the members called for next Friday night to thrash out the factional differences. The meeting is to be held at the Medical Arts building, 185 North Wabash avenue. The membership has increased to 2,500 from 1,300 in 1915, it was said.

Charges Rule by Clique.

According to the claims of the Equity League group, "between sixty and seventy self-appointed and selected members of the Chicago Dental Society have for years met secretly and prepared a slate for the elective offices in this society. The Equity League has decided that it is now time for action."

"The Equity League, it appears," said Dr. Fisher, "consists largely of men who have selfish ambitions, or who are willing to play school and fraternity politics."

The members' group, Dr. Fisher maintained, "consists of men always willing to give of their time and energy for the welfare of the society."

DENTAL SOCIETY ROW BLAMED ON 'SCHOOL POLITICS'

Both Factions Deny Free Clinic Is Issue.

Injection of "school and fraternity politics" was charged yesterday with responsibility for the factional strife in the Chicago Dental Society. Representatives of both factions denied that a question of free clinics or free dental service to school children enters into the controversy.

Dr. Hugo G. Fisher, who is the candidate of both factions for president of the society in the election of officers to be held April 16, charged in an open letter that school and fraternity politics were at the bottom of the squabble. He stated that his name had been used to head the party of the Equity League, known as insurgents, and rests on his candidacy on the "members' group" ticket.

Denounces Equity Slugs.

A slogan, "Place the control of the society in the hands of its members," appearing in the campaign literature of the Equity League was criticized by Dr. Fisher, long a leader in the members' group, as "lacking a sense of gentleness and propriety."

RESIST SEARCH BY DRY SNOOPERS, SABATH ADVISES

Representative Adolph J. Sabath of the 8th Illinois district last night advised 1,300 Lithuanian-Americans to resist entrance into their homes by dry snoopers without a search warrant. Congressman Sabath spoke at a meeting of the Lithuanian-American organization of the 11th ward, called to protest against invasions of homes and garages by dry snooping police.

"You are within your constitutional rights to deny entrance to your homes to any stranger searching for liquor, unless he is armed with a legal search warrant," he said. "Of course, I do not suggest the use of a gun, but advise polite refusal to any one seeking entrance. As you all know, I am against prohibition and shall never cease working until the eighteenth amendment is repealed."

He announced that he would introduce two resolutions in congress, one calling for repeal of the prohibition law and the second for amendment of the Volstead act.

Two resolutions were adopted at the meeting, urging the immediate repeal of the state search and seizure act and endorsing Representative Sabath's stand on prohibition.

RUSSELL WARNS POLICE NOT TO SNOOP IN HOMES

Folkmen who try to search private homes for liquor law violations were warned yesterday by Commissioner Russell they will be held to strict accountability. The searching of garages, sheds, and barns is to proceed, he instructed the department.

In a written order to commanding officers Commissioner Russell said he had learned his previous orders were being misinterpreted.

"Under no circumstances do I want members of the police department to enter private homes as distinguished from commercialized beer flats," his order said. "Your attention is called to the following in circular order 73: 'Care must be exercised by police officers when making an investigation not to enter private homes as distinguished from commercialized beer flats.'"

"Your attention is also called to the following from general order 63: 'District commanders will at once have a search made of all garages, both public and private, barns, sheds, in fact any type of building in alleys.' 'Obviously this does not mean buildings used solely for residential purposes.'"

SHOOTS HERSELF AS EX-HUSBAND PLANS TO REWED

Mrs. Adeline Wornes, 23 years old, 1541 South 90th court, Chicago, shot herself in the left shoulder last night in the presence of her former husband, James J. Wornes. The couple were divorced a year ago. Last night Mrs. Wornes invited him to her apartment to have dinner with her.

"Jim, I understand you're going around with a lot of women," Adeline said. "Tell me that's not true."

"Why, I'm going to get married again," Jim answered.

Adeline looked at him for a moment and then ran to a bureau dresser and seized a revolver. She pointed it toward her temple, but her hands trembled and when she pulled the trigger the gun was pointed toward a shoulder.

Jim took her to Frances Willard hospital.

ARMERS' ARMY, GIVE UP JUAREZ

MEXICO CITY, April 9. (U.P.)—Gen. Andres Almazan, commanding federal troops in northern Mexico, occupied Chihuahua City.

MEXICO, Mexico, April 9. (U.P.)—The rebels, held by Mexican federal troops since they captured the city on March 7, decided to abandon the state of Chihuahua and concentrate their fight in Sonora, towards Gen. Escobar's army is now moving.

The delivery of Juarez to Mexican federal troops by Gen. Andres Almazan, rebel military commander, awaited approval of President Gil. Liekens was attempting to reach the presidency by telephone to receive authority to take the city.

The rebels, who were practicing unconditional surrender, were after about 2,000 rebel soldiers were evacuated, and so they provided the surrender of only 125 soldiers, the normal strength of the rebel garrison. The soldiers who were evacuated were taken on trains from Juarez, from where they were to cross the Sierra Madre mountains to join the rebel forces in Mexico.

"COIN" HARVEY, AT 77, SEEKS DIVORCE; WANTS TO REWED, FRIENDS SAY

Springfield, Mo., April 9. (U.P.)—The Springfield Leader, in a copyrighted story today, says that William Hope "Coin" Harvey, free silver champion, author and Ozark region promoter, has had printed a formal "warning notice" in a Rogers, Ark., newspaper, directing Mrs. Anna H. Harvey to appear within 30 days to answer to a divorce action. Mrs. Harvey is a resident of Huntington, W. Va.

This morning Harvey refused to discuss reports he plans to remarry, but his friends are convinced, the Leader says, that he and his secretary, Mrs. Leake, are planning to marry.

Harvey is 77, but stalwart and active. Mrs. Leake is a white haired, attractive woman of 62.

He had his personal property removed to El Paso.

At 8:30 p. m. Gen. Carayeo's troop train started out of the Juarez area on the northwestern line. There were nearly 30 cars loaded with soldiers, horses, women, children, ammunition, an airplane on a flat car, and several tank cars of gasoline. There was a locomotive at each end.

Kidnap U. S. Airplane Mechanic. Al Coenen, American airplane mechanic, was a prisoner on the train. He was under guard and told newspapermen that rebels kidnaped him this afternoon in a Juarez cafe to work on their planes. Coenen was employed by the Standard Airlines in El Paso. His plane is in Los Angeles. Three American flyers Capt. Robt. H. Folk, Phil Mohun, and Pete Stanley were aboard voluntarily.

Gen. Augustin de la Vega, one of the rebel commanders remaining in the city, ordered a squad of machine gunners to patrol the streets to guard against looting.

A few minutes later a rebel was shot to death in a saloon on the main street as he was surprised in the act of carrying away an armful of bottles.

Capt. Juan M. Lopez Garcia, rebel officer, escaped across the line and surrendered to U. S. immigration men a few minutes before the troop train left.

Gen. Nicolas Fernandez has evacuated Chihuahua City to the federalists, and is marching northward. Gen. Carayeo announced as he started for Casas Grandes.

"We are bound for Casas Grandes and the mountains that made guerrilla warfare famous," Gen. Carayeo said.

U. S. War Birds Descend. Naco, Ariz., April 9. (U.P.)—Ready to attack any war plane from Mexico which crosses the international line, a squadron of eighteen United States army airplanes today roared along the border in an impressive warning.

The new federal army, a surprise announcement in the developments today, repulsed the border from Fort Hancock. Many farmers, who abandoned their fields, were in the federal army in addition, some of the rebels were who had fled to the United States and who enlisted for the Mexican government service following an appeal from Simon Fuentes, a congressman.

The federal forces had no trouble in taking the town of Guadalupe. Congressmen Fuentes entered Guadalupe after the occupation forces. Federalists immediately seized the town and appointed Roberto Fuentes collector of customs.

The Juarez garrison commander, Gen. Juan Carlos Carayeo, who had arrived here in the day with several hundred men, headed on to Juarez and started Casas Grandes to which Gen. Escobar moved yesterday. Gen. Carayeo

HAFFA REPORTED READY TO GO TO FEDERAL PRISON

Former Ald. Titus A. Haffa, who until the last aldermanic election represented the 4th ward in the city council, was reported yesterday to have decided to abandon his appeal from a two year prison sentence for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. It was said he plans to go to Leavenworth prison next week.

Haffa and four others were convicted several weeks ago of operating a large liquor syndicate on the north side. The four others are now serving their sentence. Yesterday Federal Judge Walter C. Lindsey assessed a fine of $2,000 against Albert P. Bauer, former Lincoln park commissioner, who was indicted with Haffa and pleaded guilty.

Haffa could not be found last night and his attorney, Robert M. Woodward, said he did not know of the former alderman's decision to drop his appeal. In addition to the prison term Haffa was fined $11,000.

VALUES LINES AND BUILDINGS OF "L"
AT 25 MILLIONS

A total valuation of $25,559,437.15 was placed upon the real estate occupied by the lines and buildings of the Chicago Rapid Transit company yesterday by Mark Levy, testifying as an expert at the fare junction hearing before Master in Chancery Roswell B. Mason.

Congressman Frank R. Field, representing the city, which is an intervening petitioner, on cross-examination brought out that in 1919 such valuation was placed at only $13,351,678.58 but Mr. Levy asserted that his present valuation is not exorbitant. Levy said he did not know what the transit company would pay him for his present testimony, but that he was to receive $150 per day while testifying as to the value of leases held by the lines.

The hearing will be resumed this morning with Mr. Levy still on the stand.

KING BORIS TELLS VON HINDENBURG WOE OF WIFE HUNT

Many Candidates, but His Heart's Choice Is Blocked

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Copyright: 1935 By The Chicago Tribune.)
(BERLIN, April 9.—President Paul von Hindenburg of Germany and King Boris of Bulgaria conferred in the German White House today on the state of the royal princess market. After some perfunctory about the weather President von Hindenburg broke the ice.

The president asked King Boris about his "hunt" for a wife as reported by the press.

"My people insist on having a queen," King Boris said, "but it is hard to find one. That concordat between Pope Pius XI. and the Italian government came at the wrong moment for my romance. After they made peace I cannot expect Premier Benito Mussolini to bring pressure on the pope to smooth over the difficulties. That door is completely closed now."

Europe's bachelor king makes no secret to his friends of the fact that he and Princess Giovanni, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, hit it off superbly together and that Pope Pius' refusal to grant a dispensation was a hard blow to him as the princess was his choice. She is Catholic and he is not.

German Princess Suggested. President von Hindenburg, as the patriarchal father of his country, hinted to King Boris that there are many marriageable princesses in Germany, but King Boris politely evaded the thrust. Although he has repeatedly been in Germany, he has not yet met a German princess who warmed his heart.

There is one zealous candidate for the job of queen of Bulgaria—Princess Kyra, second daughter of Grand Duke Cyril of Russia, who will be 20 years old this month. She was born in Paris and is a lively girl whom King Boris rather fancies, but her close relatives are too much for him. He cannot tolerate the idea of becoming a closer relative to Queen Marie of Roumania. He also fears that a union with the daughter of the Romanoff pretender to the throne of Russia might involve Bulgaria in the intrigues of the Romanoff princess.

Duchess Albert of Wuertemberg, the king's sister, is not discouraged. She remains hot on the job as royal matchmaker. She is looking over Princess Feodora of Denmark, niece of King Haakon VII. of Norway and King Christian X. of Denmark.

Greek Princess in Running. Greek princesses are also in the running, notably the two eldest daughters of Prince Andrew and Princess Alice of Battenberg. The Greek Princess Irene, who was born in 1904 in Florence and is a sister of the late King Alexander and the former King George, is also being proposed as queen of Bulgaria.

President von Hindenburg keenly enjoyed the tale of woe of the young bride-seeking king. With humor and a slight chuckle he tried to impart some of the serene wisdom he has acquired in a long life to the crowned head of Bulgaria. King Boris will remain a few days in Berlin and then intends to return to Sofia.

TEXAS GUINAN GOES ON TRIAL WITH A LAUGH

Snoopers Tell Good Times on U. S. Cash.

BY TOM PETTEY.

New York, April 9.—(Special.)—Texas Guinan, Broadway's home girl who plays hostess-mother to folks who can't sleep nights, had her day in court today and late this afternoon expressed her intention of going on a diet to get ready for prison fare.
"After listening to those federal dicks I'm as good as in," remarked the uncrowned and as yet uncrowned empress of Broadway night life. But she grinned a first class dental grin when she said it, for all in all Tex came through in a blaze of jeweled glory on the first day of her trial for maintaining a nuisance by her hostessing in the Saloon Royale.
Tex had a swell time. The jury had an even better time, and Federal Judge Edwin C. Thomas held court until almost 5 o'clock. The big room was filled to the last seat with men. There were only two women in the audience.

Texas is an Eye-ful.
Tex attracts men, and today she was a sight for tired eyes. Clad in a black velvet coat, a champagne satin frock, and a black hat that chucked her under the chin, she stared right back at the jury box. They were not a glaring contest by any means. The night club queen had all her jewelry on and at least $50,000 worth of diamonds, emeralds, and pearls gleamed every time she toyed with the lavender handkerchief or grabbed at the coat tails of Maxwell Lybrand, her dapper young lawyer.
Mr. Lybrand was right on the job, and while the testimony of two of the four horsemen of the Volstead act, namely, Mr. James L. White and Mr. E. D. Beasly, caused the blonde defendant to shift daintily at her smiling sals, the lawyer just couldn't be convinced that the Saloon Royale was not a wholesome family gathering place and that Tex was not a sweet little innocent whose chief aim in life is to protect her girls from federal playboys equipped with plenty of Uncle Sam's money.

They Drink and Tell.
Through the adroit questioning of Norman J. Morrison, one of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt's earnest young prosecutors, the snoring gentleman who drank and told, spoke their thoughts to the Saloon Royale. It was a nice, homey place, they testified, and everybody tried to make them happy. Sometimes they brought their own liquor, but it always ran out, and, anyhow, Tex frowned on suckers bringing their own, they said.
Snooper White, a pale, cadaverous fellow, recalled the famous "sucker

HEFLIN JR. SOBERING UP IN WASHINGTON HOME OF HIS FATHER

Washington, D. C., April 9.—(Special.)—J. Thomas Hefflin Jr., son of the fiery bone dry United States senator from Alabama is sobering up tonight in the Washington home of his fond parent.

Twenty-four hours after his abrupt arrival in New York after a well-motivated journey from Panama on the liner Ancon, the young son of the senator from Alabama is sobering up tonight in the Washington home of his fond parent.
Evidently somewhat embarrassed by the newspaper accounts of how the 23 year old son of Senator Hefflin had called out loudly for a glass of "a bug" and in all wrong about the slight built young man with a big head left the Washington train before stepping from the platform of the rear car.
Senator Hefflin, respondent in white tuxedo, Panama hat and a black bow tie was waiting. He threw his arms around the youth and greeted him warmly. Then father and son, accompanied by J. L. Thompson, Hefflin's private secretary, who had made the trip to New York to bring the youth back to the parental roof.

Before they had taken a domestic step, a camera flash-light boomed. "Officers, arrest that man," bellowed Hefflin Jr., in a voice that startled bystanders rushing up to find out what the shooting was about. Hefflin, the younger, exploded again and started in pursuit of the camera man. That ended the picture taking and the Hefflins departed for the capital.

Tex attracts men, and today she was a sight for tired eyes. Clad in a black velvet coat, a champagne satin frock, and a black hat that chucked her under the chin, she stared right back at the jury box. They were not a glaring contest by any means. The night club queen had all her jewelry on and at least $50,000 worth of diamonds, emeralds, and pearls gleamed every time she toyed with the lavender handkerchief or grabbed at the coat tails of Maxwell Lybrand, her dapper young lawyer.
Mr. Lybrand was right on the job, and while the testimony of two of the four horsemen of the Volstead act, namely, Mr. James L. White and Mr. E. D. Beasly, caused the blonde defendant to shift daintily at her smiling sals, the lawyer just couldn't be convinced that the Saloon Royale was not a wholesome family gathering place and that Tex was not a sweet little innocent whose chief aim in life is to protect her girls from federal playboys equipped with plenty of Uncle Sam's money.

Through the adroit questioning of Norman J. Morrison, one of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt's earnest young prosecutors, the snoring gentleman who drank and told, spoke their thoughts to the Saloon Royale. It was a nice, homey place, they testified, and everybody tried to make them happy. Sometimes they brought their own liquor, but it always ran out, and, anyhow, Tex frowned on suckers bringing their own, they said.
Snooper White, a pale, cadaverous fellow, recalled the famous "sucker

thirteen times and spent about $400. The thirteenth time he called the place was raised. On his first visit, Feb. 2, 1928, he and his wife and a friend bought a quart of champagne and two half pints of Scotch. The champagne cost $25 and the half pints $15 each. He served the champagne was served by waiters at the table but that the whiskey was delivered in an unlabeled bottle. The heavier charges were put on one bill, and the food, ginger ale, and cover charges on another. White said he usually spent about $25 when he dropped in to "get the dope on Tex."

Texas Asks Her Dignity.
"Make him call me Miss Guinan," Tex whispered to her attorney, but nothing was done about it.
While then told similar accounts of his other visits to the Saloon Royale, Tex "boomed the waiters about and appeared to have plenty of authority."
"I heard Tex tell Arthur Gordon, one of the masters of ceremonies, he had been on everybody's floor for less than $2,000 a week. She added, 'I go fifty-fifty with John.'"
"Who is John?" asked Morrison.
"I believe she meant John E. Johnson, one of the owners," replied the witness.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Lybrand, White readily admitted that he had seen evidence on Miss Guinan's floor for less than $2,000 a week. He said he was a broom man from Denver and introduced other prohibition agents as old men and big business men.
"Then you were out to make a criminal case of Miss Guinan?" asked Lybrand.
"Yes," said White.
"Admit he likes Texas."
"But you liked Miss Guinan and her night club," he testified you had a good time. There was nothing unwholesome about her club, was there?"
"Yes, I liked her and it was a nice club," said the witness, "but after the second visit it became very boring."

Then why did you go back ten times more? You had the evidence, you have testified, on the first visit. Didn't you go back just to have a good time on government money?"
"No," said the agent lamely. "I want back in line of duty."
"Was the liquor good?" "Yes."
"Do you like to drink?" "No."
"But you do a lot of drinking?"
"Yes, I have to, for I have been a dry agent six years."

Mr. Lybrand sought to make the dry agent confess to trying to date up several of Miss Guinan's chorus girls, but all he would admit was that he once asked Tex to introduce him to Peggy Joyce, but this he insisted was in line of duty. Then Mr. Lybrand drew the middle of Miss Guinan's ample back.
"Do you know," he asked in an injured tone, "that Miss Guinan would date any girl in her show that made a date with a customer? Why, she sends every girl whose mother does not call for her home in a taxi cab. Yet you tried to make a date with them, and even asked Miss Guinan to visit a roadhouse with you."
White denied any interest in the chorus, but admitted he had planned a visit to a roadhouse in line of duty with Tex. His wife was going along, he explained, but Miss Guinan didn't show up on the Sunday she agreed to take the ride.

Dry Agent Beasly, the last witness of the day, was a very blond, quiet spoken young fellow. He was inclined to become truculent under cross-examination but disagreed with his partner. White on only one matter—that of the quality of the liquor served in the Saloon Royale. Although he admitted drinking—in line of duty—for more than three years he would not say whether the liquor he bought was good or bad a time "getting Tex" as did his partner.

Walters Plead Guilty.
Miss Guinan's ten co-defendants in the Saloon Royale case, most of them charged guilty to a nuisance by left her holding the bag. Judge Thomas failed to indicate when he would sentence these men.
At the close of the session Miss Guinan held court for a half hour in the room where she was being tried.
"I'm just a wreck," she announced, "for I came right here from the club. I have not had a wink of sleep, but I can't be as frightful as those guys make me out. These ten boys that pleaded guilty are just a bunch of Greeks and didn't know what it was all about."
Late, very late this afternoon, Miss Guinan, still without a wink of sleep, had retired to the fifth floor of the federal building and was industriously posing for photographers.

The national committee refuses to accept the nomination of Mr. Coolidge to the presidency. The committee has decided to accept the nomination of Mr. Hoover.

COURT ATTACK ON McCLINTOCK WILL IS OPENED

The court battle to set aside the will of William McClintock was begun yesterday before Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan. Proofs of heirship will be offered by three groups of contestants in litigation which is expected to add another year to the four year legal fight.
Under the will, signed by young McClintock on his death bed, the majority of the estate goes to his foster father, William D. Shepherd, later acquitted of the murder of his ward. An annuity of $2,000 was left to Miss Isabelle Pope, Wilmette school teacher, who was McClintock's fiancée, and who claims a dower right in the estate.
One group of heirs, the seven children of Ralph Eaton of Ottumwa, Ia., claims relationship through a half brother of William McClintock Sr., another group, Bertram Eaton and L. O. Thibault, guardians ad item for William Eaton, who is insane, made an appearance. Two other claimants are Joseph and David McClintock of Rochester, N. Y. Judge Sullivan postponed the hearing until April 16.

REVEALS WHAT CRASHED 'DRAFT COOLIDGE' MOVE

Hilles Got Cal's Message Not to Vote for Him.

New York, April 9.—(Special.)—Freed from his pledge of secrecy by the revelations made in a current magazine by Calvin Coolidge, Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman from New York and one of the leaders of the "draft Coolidge" movement at the Kansas City convention, today revealed his story of the collapse of the attempt to nominate Mr. Coolidge.

The election of Mr. Hoover has resulted in the passing of Coolidge control from Mr. Hilles' hands. That is the almost inevitable result of backing the wrong political horse. Mr. Hilles' account, therefore, has current as well as historical interest.

Denise He Was Die Hard.
The national committee refuses to accept the nomination of Mr. Coolidge to the presidency. The committee has decided to accept the nomination of Mr. Hoover.

It was the President's wish that that he kept confidential. Mr. Hilles repeated that it was his conviction that the President would accept the nomination even though he would not "choose" it. He said this belief was shared by others.
"The Sunday before the convention opened Senator Butler was talking with one of Mr. Hoover's warmest supporters—a delegate, who also was a close friend of the Senator," he said. "This delegate asked what the Senator intended to do." Mr. Butler replied: "I am going to vote for Coolidge."
"Will he accept?" asked the delegate.
"I think so," Mr. Butler replied.

A Milder Disappointment.
That was a bitter disappointment to me, for I was convinced that New York would be the battleground of the election and I knew he would do better in the state than any other candidate.
"I told Mr. Sanders that I would play the game. Shortly after he left I talked with Senator Butler of Massachusetts, whom Mr. Sanders had seen before he saw me. Mr. Sanders also had delivered the message to Secretary Mellon—he received it first—and the Secretary and Mr. Butler had discussed the situation. J. Henry Borah, back of Connecticut also received the message. So far as I know no one else did.
Immediately after Mr. Sanders, I immediately sent word to George H. Moore that Mr. Coolidge had irrevocably withdrawn. I did not tell him that I had seen the President's secretary, as Secretary Sanders said of influencing the President to run again was not in vain.

"Mr. Coolidge tells of sending Mr. Sanders to Kansas City with orders to inform several of his friends that he did not want them to vote for him," Mr. Hilles explained. "I was one of those whom he resolved that message should reach."

"I had contracted a cold and on the Sunday before the convention I developed symptoms of pneumonia and was ordered to bed by a physician.
"Mr. Sanders was told by Mrs. Hilles that visitors were forbidden, but he said he had a message from the President which could not be delivered to anybody else, so he was allowed in my room. He told me the President requested that I refrain from voting for him and that I use my influence with other members of the New York delegation to do likewise."

SEIZE EX-PORTER AS FAKE DOCTOR; LICENSE FORGED

State Starts Campaign Against Quacks.

An ex-porter, practicing as a physician in a large suite of offices at 35 South Dearborn street, was arrested yesterday as the department of education and registration, acting under orders from Gov. Louis L. Bismarck, initiated a drive against quack doctors who have been operating with forged licenses and diplomas said to have been procured by a band of expert forgers who charged from $1,500 up for each document.

Joseph A. Plakas, who little more than a year ago was a porter and substitute waiter in a Greek restaurant in St. Louis, according to police, was the "doctor" in custody last night. A number of patients were waiting in ante-rooms for treatment by this man, who, according to Dwight Anderson, assistant superintendent of the department of education and registration, knows no more about medicine than a baboon.

Prominent Men Involved?
Anderson said his orders came direct from Gov. Bismarck, who was given information recently concerning the operations of fake physicians in Chicago. He intimated that subsequent investigation may involve some persons prominent in medical circles and a state official.

On the wall in Plakas' office hung a large framed diploma, purporting to have been issued by the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons. It was dated June 5, 1925, and signed by "Waldo Briggs, M.D." A telegram sent to the St. Louis college revealed that no student named Plakas had ever been enrolled there and the important looking diploma was called a forgery.

Illinois License Faked.
Plakas also possessed a fake license and permit to operate as a physician in Illinois, which was dated 1927. Deputy Police Commissioner John Stege, who cooperated with Anderson in the investigation, said the documents apparently had been produced by a forger.

Like the quack physicians against whom the Tribune directed a campaign several years ago, Plakas specialized in "social diseases." In his rooms at the Sheraton hotel, 839 Sheridan road, a number of obscene pictures were found. Although Plakas admitted that the diploma he owned was a forgery, he claimed to have a certain amount of medical knowledge.

Plakas was questioned by Assistant State's Attorneys Harry S. Ditchburne and Walker Butler. He said that in January, 1925, a man approached him and offered to procure a physician's diploma and license for him for $1,500. He declared that he did not know the man's name nor for whom he was acting and said he had not paid the money, although he has been practicing under the protection of the fake diploma for more than a year.

Anderson declared that Plakas knew much more than he would admit and questioning of the prisoner was to be continued. Plakas will be booked on charges of operating without a license and also will be turned over to the federal authorities for prosecution for violation of the prohibition law.

In addition to charging high fees for treatment of patients for "social diseases," Plakas used his fake credentials to obtain a liquor prescription book and a permit to possess narcotics. He was said to have done a thriving business in both liquor and narcotics.

Anderson revealed that he had hoped

WEDDING COSTLY

Mrs. George W. Miller (Bina West)

Lansing, Mich., April 9.—(P)—An attempt to oust Mrs. Bina West Miller from her position as Republican national committeewoman was instituted in the state legislature today through a bill requiring members of political party national committees to live throughout the year in the state they represent.

Mrs. Miller recently was married to George W. Miller, Chicago attorney. She announced at the time of the wedding that she would continue her Michigan residence by maintaining a summer home in Port Huron.

to arrest five or six quack physicians, but that some one had apparently tipped off the others. When Sgt. James Hayes and Robert Massett visited the offices of these others, they had disappeared. Their names were kept secret in the hope of future arrests.

Carter Faces 24 Charges.

That trial of Dr. Franklin O. Carter, 177 North State street, on charges of violating the Illinois medical practice law by operating without a license was continued until April 23 by Judge Alfred O. Erickson yesterday. Carter asked time to procure an attorney and prepare a defense. He is at liberty on a $1,000 bond.

As he left the courtroom, Dr. Carter was rearrested on a second charge of violation of the medical practice law. He posted a second bond of $1,500, and will be arraigned tomorrow before Judge Erickson on the new charge.

Two Slayers Refused Stay; To Die in Chair Tomorrow

Judge Marcus Kavanagh yesterday refused a stay of execution to Napoleon Glover and Morgan Swan, both colored, whom he sentenced to death after they had pleaded guilty to the murder of Charles McEllock, colored druggist. The two are sentenced to die in the electric chair tomorrow.

LAWYERS CONFER ON PROSECUTION OF DRY SLAYER

Carbary, De King Attorneys Agree on Program.

State's Attorney George D. Carbary of Kane county held a conference yesterday with Attorneys Robert A. Milroy and Albert J. Kelley, who represent the family of Mrs. Lillian De King, regarding the prosecution of Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who shot Mrs. De King, and of Eugene Boyd Fairchild, dry smuggler, who made a false affidavit that he bought moonshine from a woman, supposed to be Mrs. De King.

The attorneys were in accord after Judge John E. Newhall had placed Carbary in charge of the prosecution and authorized Milroy and Kelley to act with him. Kelley and Milroy agreed not to insist on a special prosecutor to replace Carbary, who had at first attempted to justify the act of Smith and to protect Fairchild.

Agree on Program.
It was agreed that Kelley and Milroy can summon whoever they wish before the grand jury in prosecution, and that Carbary can summon whoever he wishes in justification of the shooting, and that if indictments result the three will cooperate in presenting the evidence to petit juries.

Having settled that, Carbary was called upon to deny that Fairchild was drunk when he made the affidavit that sent raiders to the De King home.

A report was circulated that Fairchild would offer intoxication as a defense to the perjury charge resulting from his affidavit. Attorney Arthur Shay of Streator, who represents Fairchild, said Fairchild was making no such claim and would not make such a defense.

Deny Drunk Charge.
Magistrate John J. Weber, who issued the warrant on Fairchild's complaint, denied he had said that Fairchild wasn't as sober as he might have been.

State's Attorney Carbary has maintained his dry raiding policy since the killing of Mrs. De King, the clubbing of her husband, and the shooting of Deputy Sheriff Smith by 13 year old Gerald De King, he announced yesterday. Louis Benda, of Aurora, was sentenced to 8 months imprisonment and fined $500 for transporting liquor yesterday at Carbary's request for a heavy penalty to show that he had not relaxed in his efforts.

It represents the income derived from various properties and securities.

AIELLO GANGSTER IS CHARGED WITH LOMBARDO DEATH

After seven months police activity was renewed last night in the investigation of the slaying of Tony Lombardo, Sicilian leader, who fell with three bullets in his back amid the throng at Madison and Dearborn streets on an evening last September.

Deputy Commissioner John Stege announced that secret witnesses had positively identified the slayer as Frank Marco, 20 years old, New York and Chicago gunman. A warrant charging Marco with the murder was being sought by Detective Sergeant Walter Storms while Marco's description was broadcast to every police department in the country with instructions for his arrest.

Deputy Stege described Marco as a henchman of the Aiello clan, which opposed Lombardo's Sicilian leadership. One of Lombardo's bodyguards, Joseph Ferraro, was fatally wounded in the loop shooting, dying two days later with sealed lips. A second bodyguard, Joseph Lolordo, escaped the bullets, but Lolordo's brother, Pasquino, was killed three months later in his own home.

SET MICHAELSON RUM TRIAL FOR MAY IN FLORIDA

Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson will be tried on two charges of prohibition law violation during the May term of the United States District court at Key West, according to reports from Florida yesterday. The two counts, importation and transportation of liquor, grew out of the seizure of two trunks belonging to Michaelson which contained an assortment of Cuban liquor after the latter returned from Havana in January, 1928.

While preparations were being made in Florida for the trial of the dry voting Chicago congressman, attempts were made to learn the identity of the mysterious member of the Michaelson party who, it is said, is ready to say it was his trunks, not the congressman's, that contained the booze.

Although the information could not be verified and Attorney Benedict J. Short, the congressman's lawyer, claimed ignorance of the identity of the man, he was said to be a close friend of Michaelson now out of the city.

It will be the congressman's contention, according to both Short and a statement issued on Sunday, that the trunks were improperly identified when they were seized at Jacksonville by prohibition agents and that the Michaelson baggage was sent to Washington where it was claimed.

Attorney Short said yesterday that Michaelson had not revealed to him the name of the man who will testify for him.

CARDINAL'S HAT FOR ARCHBISHOP CURLEY FORESEEN

Pope Expected to Honor Baltimore Prelate.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ROME, April 9.—Another American cardinal, raising the number of the United States cardinals from four to five, is to be named by Pope Pius XI. at the next consistory which is called for May 20, according to members of the American Roman Catholic colony in Rome today. The archbishop of Baltimore, Michael J. Curley, may be the choice, it is said.

The present American cardinals are George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, Patrick Cardinal Hayes of New York, and Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia.

Pope Pius is anxious to bring the Sacred college, the senate of the Roman church, up to full strength. It has been reduced to 53 members through a series of deaths. Present wishes are that he will name eight cardinals, four of whom will be Italian and four foreign. The pontiff desires to keep a slight preponderance of foreign cardinals in the Sacred college in order to give a clear impression to the world of the universality of the church's government.

Ireland May Get Red Hat.

The present standing of the cardinals is 33 foreign and 26 Italian, and the new appointments would thus have the college consisting of 36 foreign and 26 Italian.

The foreign appointments are likely to be Edward Byrne, archbishop of Dublin, Magr. Melo y Alcala, archbishop of Valencia, Joseph Botaro, archbishop of Buenos Aires, and the fourth will either be a Frenchman or an American.

Several Italians Stated.

The contemplated Italian appointments are Magr. Minoretti, archbishop of Genoa, Magr. Latriva, archbishop of Palermo, Magr. Marchetti Salvagiani, secretary of propaganda of the faith, and Magr. Rossi, assessor of the consistorial congregation.

The pontiff is also expected to announce the convocation of the consistorial council adjourned in 1870 at this consistory. The new politico-religious aspect of Europe since the war, the crisis which it is said here the Protestant churches are experiencing, and the recent concordat with Italy make the pontiff anxious to resume the consistorial council as soon as possible.

War Hero Presented with D. S. C. at Fort Sheridan

John V. Hogan, 35 years old, 3219 South May street, was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism during the world war at Fort Sheridan yesterday. The medal was awarded him for conspicuous bravery near Belle-Mort Mare, France, when as a private of Company D, 35th Infantry, 8th division, A. E. F., he advanced single handed against an enemy machine gun nest, killed two of the snipers, and took ten prisoners. The presentation followed a review of troops, and was made by Maj. Gen. Frank L. Parker, commander of the Sixth Corps area. Hogan is now a motor truck salesman and the father of a 22 months old daughter.

SWISS TO VOTE ON PROHIBITION LAW ON MAY 11

(Copyright 1929: By the New York Times.)
GENEVA, April 9.—A paradoxical situation has arisen in Switzerland over the people's desire to hold a referendum on prohibition.

The federal assembly reluctantly fixed the voting for May 11, and at the same time recommended the rejection of the proposed dry law. The government's attitude may be explained by the fact that if the vote is for prohibition it will lose an annual income of about $300,000 derived from the taxation of alcohol. Curiously enough, from this sum the federal authorities subsidize a number of anti-alcohol leagues.

MRS. O'NEILL IN NEW ATTACK ON RUTH MCCORMICK

Quits G. O. P. Women's Club in Huff.

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]—State Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill resumed today in more formal manner the attack she made against Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick last January when she charged the Illinois congresswoman-elect with responsibility for Speaker Shanahan's refusal of a legislative chairmanship that she had demanded.

Mrs. O'Neill gave out here a letter of resignation as a vice president of the Illinois Women's Republican club, which she had addressed to Mrs. George R. Dean of Chicago, president of the organization.

When she did so, she was asked if this step was taken at this time because Mrs. McCormick had been in Springfield during the day, taking a train for Chicago an hour or so before the letter of resignation was made public. She denied that there was any connection between the two events, saying that she did not know Mrs. McCormick had been in Springfield.

Text of Her Letter.

"I hereby tender my resignation as vice president of the Illinois Women's Republican club." Mrs. O'Neill's letter says, "I regret that it seems impossible for me to continue as a member of the board. It has appeared to me after some years of observation that the activities of the Illinois Women's Republican club have been in two great degrees directed to the carrying out of the political aims of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, and to a large extent this has prevented the organization from giving to the program of women's advancement generally the support it should have had from the only Republican women's organization in Illinois."

Further, it seems to me that the large sums of money expended by Mrs. McCormick in the recent campaign for congress-elect largely constituted a barrier to representative government in that it tends to eliminate from the field of candidates those men or women who have not large means at their disposal, but who might be valuable members of our various legislative and other governing bodies.

Says People's Rights Suffer.
"I believe those who have followed my career in public life will agree that I am sincere in my desire to thwart any tendency toward the denial to our people of their right to a voice in government, whether through the influence of wealth or otherwise."

"I hope the Illinois Women's club may be able to put itself on an independent basis as regards any political candidate and become an organization truly representative of the Republican women of Illinois. Until such time, I and to my regret that I shall have to refrain from being a part of its governing body."

Immediately after his election as speaker, Shanahan requested all the members of the house to send in their list of requests for committee assignments. Mrs. O'Neill charged that her request for the chairmanship of the committee of education had been refused by Shanahan after receiving a telephone call from Mrs. McCormick. The speaker remained silent until his entire staff was made up, and with its announcement to the house he read a statement forcibly asserting that his selections were made on the basis of qualifications alone, and not upon requests from political leaders. He said he had not talked with Mrs. McCormick, by telephone or otherwise, since long before his election as speaker, and that she had made no suggestion concerning committee appointments.

A few days later Mrs. O'Neill replied from the floor with a formal statement saying that her friends had urged her to stand firm in her insistence upon the chairmanship of education, and that being denied that, she had refused any other chairmanship.

Speaker Shanahan had offered her the chairmanship of the civil service committee. When she declined it, he awarded it to Mrs. Rena Elrod. The discussion of this episode recalled the fact that at the Republican national convention at Kansas City, Mrs. O'Neill had been the chosen candidate for national committeewoman.

But the Deussen group had almost a complete slate for the others to be elected at the caucus of the Illinois delegation and a majority balked at giving all the places to the one group. A deadlock resulted. Deussen was forced to give ground and surrendered all claims in the selection of the committeewoman.

As a result Mrs. Bertha Bair was elected to that honor. Mrs. McCormick had been largely instrumental in breaking the deadlock, and Mrs. O'Neill charged her with full responsibility for her defeat.

CITES PROGRESS OF TRANSIT BILLS

Opposition Is Less than Expected, Claim.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Wilkerson citizens' committee issued a short report yesterday on the progress of the Chicago transit bills in the state legislature.

The committee said it was pleased and surprised that criticism of the bills has not been larger and stronger. The statement reviews all of the adverse comment against the bills. "At the first public hearing, that before the citizens' committee on Jan. 31," reads the statement, "six critics of the transit program expressed their views. At the council committee's public hearing on March 28, the critics numbered nine. Before the house committee public hearings, April 4 and 5, there appeared an even dozen. Five of the critics spoke at each of three meetings, five more spoke at each of two hearings and three more appeared but once.

Critics Are Classified.

"These critics may be placed in four classes, as follows:

"Those seeking a transit franchise from the city, of which John Maynard Harlan and Joseph Mantel are representatives; those desiring municipal ownership and operation, of which former Ald. Wiley W. Mills, Carl D. Thompson, Charles K. Mohler, S. J. Komenkang, Henry M. Ashton, and A. W. BETTY COMPTON, FILM
STAR, QUITS CRUISE FOR
"STAYING IN NIGHTS"

Hollywood, Cal., April 9.—[U.P.]—Betty Compton, screen actress, and James Cruze, her director husband, separated today.

She explained their decision was made because "Jim just would stay at home nights."

Even when there were professional parties that are a vital part of Hollywood's life, she said, Jim would not leave the Cruze fire.

Cruze, who produced "The Covered Wagon," would commit even a graver offense on Sunday, the blonde actress said. He would open the doors of the Cruze Flintridge estate to Hollywood from early morning to late at night, she asserted.

"This was my one day in the week away from film work," Betty said, "and I couldn't rest."

Cruze confirmed the separation thus: "Yes, it's true; but I'd rather have anything else than that said come from Betty."

No immediate divorce action is contemplated, Miss Compton said. Cruze and Miss Compton have been married about six years. Cruze was married previously to Marguerite Snow of the films.

amended to meet their opinions and convictions.

"Another favorable aspect of the progress of the bills is this: They have been read, examined, studied, and analyzed by every one sufficiently interested. Yet, other than recited above, no one has questioned their merits.

"In a word, it is truly surprising that there has not been a vigorous attack upon the bills. It is remarkable that the experience of some leader in labor, industry, commerce, or economics has not prompted him to speak an adverse word about them.

"It is, perhaps, hazardous to speak definitely at this time, but up to the present the six bills are not only agreed bills on the part of the companies, the city government, and the citizens' committee, but also on the part of the public, except as heretofore recited."

The citizens' committee says it will consider every criticism made and will make reply to each, if the legislators desire.

LAMONT TELLS HIS NEIGHBORS
OF CABINET JOB

Commerce Secretary Is Guest in Chicago.

Robert P. Lamont, Chicago manufacturer and engineer, who became secretary of commerce little more than a month ago, delivered to his fellow members of the Commercial club last night a human confession of the bewilderments and discoveries which greet a citizen who becomes a member of the cabinet of a President of the United States. The occasion was a dinner in honor of Mr. Lamont in the Bismarck hotel.

He spoke as a nonpolitician, a business man, who for the first time has encountered the complexities of a huge federal department. His audience chuckled in sympathy with him as he told of his sensations at being incessantly photographed and interviewed, of his amazement at some of the wonders accomplished by the many bureaus under his control, of his respect, amounting almost to awe, at the manifold duties of his office.

He Views with Dismay.
It was the new secretary's first public utterance since he took office. It was one of the few speeches, he said, he has made in the 61 crowded days of his life. He did not hesitate in admitting that he contemplated with dismay the role of public speaker which will be thrust upon him frequently in the future.

He paid a tribute to President Hoover whom he succeeded as secretary of commerce. He declared that Mr. Hoover had accomplished wonders in the almost eight years he held the cabinet post. From all over the world have come tributes to the vitality of the commerce department as organized by his predecessor, he asserted. But he was frank in pointing out conditions in the department which still need developing and which he hopes to correct.

Describes His Department.
It was apparent that Mr. Lamont had already made himself familiar with the lengthy list of duties which he must assume. His talk, which consumed an hour and a half, was concerned mainly with an explanation of what the department of commerce is and what it must do.

Thus, when he had finished, he had discussed the divisions dealing with aviation, radio, foreign and domestic commerce, the coast survey, steamboat inspection, navigation, mines and fisheries. Each one of these subjects, he pointed out, has vast ramifications.

Mr. Lamont spoke first of the difficulty of finding skilled and experienced men to fill the highly technical positions in the various departments. It was here that he remarked upon the contrast between such a difficulty in business and in politics.

"In the business world, you and I know that when we want an exceptional man to fill a certain position we go out and find him and appoint him," he said. "But the task is magnified when geographical and political considerations affect the choice.

"As it was, I was amazed at the character and quality of the men now working in the department. There are men there who could obtain salaries four or five times what they are getting if they went into business."

His first encounter with the press also left him bewildered, Mr. Lamont said.

"I was astonished to find myself quoted on matters affecting business throughout the world," he said, smiling. "I found headlines indicating that I was an authority on everything under the sun."

"So, if you see a news article attributing an expert knowledge to me of which you know I am completely ignorant, remember that it isn't my fault."

Referring to the great size of his department with its 15,000 employees and its average annual cost of forty millions, Mr. Lamont declared that one of the great handicaps to efficiency was the wide scattering nature of buildings in which the many bureaus are quartered.

"It is now planned to combine all the departments in one great building," he declared.

At the speakers' table with Mr. Lamont sat Senator Charles S. Deneen, Judge Charles E. Woodward, Judge James H. Wilkerson, Roy O. West, Judge Walter C. Lindsey, George Woodruff, John W. O'Leary, Harry A. Wheeler and Elias H. Strawn.

ALUMNI UPHOLD FRAT REFUSAL TO BANISH LIQUOR

Praise U. of V. Students for Courage.

Chicago alumni of the Delta Tau Delta chapter at the University of Virginia yesterday praised the action of the students in refusing to pledge that liquor would be banned from their fraternity chapter house. The Chicagoans said the action was a courageous thrust at the hypocrisy of prohibition. They predicted that the undergraduates' stand would provoke a controversy affecting fraternity houses in colleges throughout the United States.

The attitude of the national fraternity was expressed in an editorial in the official organ, which was being given attention yesterday. The editorial attacked prohibition as "an impertinent and unwarrantable intrusion upon personal liberty," but it insisted that any chapter unwilling to bar liquor from its house should surrender its charter.

Agitation over the drinking at the Virginia school reached a climax during a visit of President and Mrs. Coolidge to a football game there last Thanksgiving day. Drinking was said to have gone on openly at the game and the superintendent of the Virginia Anti-Saloon league asked the governor to investigate.

Fraternities Asked to Act.
President Alderman of the university requested the fraternity chapters at the university to pass regulations forbidding drinking in chapter houses but the Delta Tau Delta refused to do so. Alumni of the fraternity are to be appointed as an investigating body preparatory to revoking the chapter's charter.

"There is probably less drinking per capita at Virginia than at other universities," said Hempstead Washburne Jr., with offices at 231 South La Salle street, president of the Chicago Alumni association of the university. "But the Delta Iota chapter of the Delta Tau Delta refused to be hypocrites about drinking. The university was founded by Thomas Jefferson and the Jeffersonian ideas of liberty are upheld there."

Those boys, young as they are, showed a clear perception of honor. They knew that drinking goes on in every college and that it cannot be kept out of fraternity houses. They refused to pass a law which would only be violated."

Broker Tells His View.

George A. Paddock, La Salle street investment broker, also an alumnus of the university and a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, also declared an admiration for the stand taken by the undergraduates.

"The fraternity apparently revolted at the sham of prohibition," he said. "I know that the members are temperate. It's not a question with them of drinking, but of whether to allow drinking openly and honestly."

THE WONDER ROUGE OF THE DAY...

"NOT until I tried it myself, would I believe a rouge could be so remarkable. It blends easily to any shade I wish, from delicate pink to delicate red. It is so natural looking in complexion as it is so true. It is Zanthox."

Instead of secretly and hypocritically, other alumni, while reluctant to stir opinions for publication, praised the "honesty and courage" of the undergraduates.

FACULTY HAS VIRGINIA CASE

Charlottesville, Va., April 9.—(AP)—Dean J. L. Newcomb of the University of Virginia said today that university authorities would give immediate consideration to the reported action of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity seeking removal of its Virginia chapter for alleged violation of by-laws and university rules in regard to liquor drinking. A statement will be issued, he said, when action is determined upon.

Frank S. Hemmick, traveling secretary of the national fraternity, recently visited the local chapter and reported that liquor was used in the chapter house. He has now written alumni of the Virginia chapter announcing the institution of proceedings by the arch chapter looking to the withdrawal of the local charter.

Curtis E. Cuddy of Roanoke, president of the local fraternity, said today that the chapter had not denied the university in regard to drinking.

Cuddy stated today that the visit of Hemmick, the national secretary, was in November, before the charges of excessive drinking had been made.

JUDGE'S LETTER BARING AIMEE'S SECRET SOUGHT

Prosecutors of Hardy Order Search.

Sacramento, Cal., April 9.—(AP)—A search for letters written by Superior Judge Carlos Hardy in connection with the investigation of the kidnapping story of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, was started today at the request of the house board of managers prosecuting the jurist on impeachment charges.

The district attorney's office at Los Angeles was asked to make an immediate search for the letters, which Representative Walter J. Little of the prosecution indicated it is hoped may throw some light on where Mrs. McPherson actually was during the time she reported she was in the hands of kidnapers three years ago.

Judge Hardy is being tried on charges of giving legal advice to the evangelist and accepting a $2,500 fee from her while serving on the bench. The Los Angeles district attorney advised Little that he would look for letters not already turned over to the board of managers and forward photostatic copies.

Little denied that any original letters had been stolen from his files. He said that so far as he knew, none was delivered to him by the district attorney's office.

Judge Hardy took active part in his impeachment case for the first time today when he personally cross-examined Frank Dewar, former deputy sheriff of Los Angeles, relative to investigations of Mrs. McPherson's kidnapping story.

Dewar was placed on the stand by the prosecution to tell of transactions he had with Judge Hardy which sent him and Frank W. Modis, another former deputy sheriff, to the Mexican border in search of persons named as Mrs. McPherson's kidnapers.

POLICE SEEKING FIVE AS ROBBERS OF SYNAGOGUE

Police last night named one Morris Goldman as one of the five handouts who held up eighty members of the First Roumanian Hebrew Congregation synagogue, 3623 Douglas boulevard, Monday night. The other four are known to the police and their apprehension is only a matter of hours, police said.

Several victims were taken to the police identification bureau yesterday and were shown pictures of well known criminals. A few declared that they recognized the robbers as boys living in the neighborhood, but were unable to name them.

Capt. Charles McGarr after a complete check on the amount taken declared that the robbers' loot was not more than $7,000.

I'M ALONE CREW FREED AS U. S. DROPS CHARGES

Right to Sink Boat Is Still Maintained.

New Orleans, La., April 9.—[Special.]—All charges of conspiracy against Capt. John Thomas Randall and seven surviving members of the crew of the rum runner I'm Alone were dismissed by District Attorney Talbot today before United States Commissioner Carter. The district attorney in a statement, however, made it plain that dismissal of the criminal charges is not to be construed as indicating that the government has in any way altered its opinion as to its right to pursue and sink the schooner. Capt. Randall said he and the five white members of the crew would leave New Orleans Wednesday afternoon by train for Montreal. He added he was done with rum running. The two Honduras Negroes will leave New Orleans for Honduras on a fruit steamer.

Mr. Talbot, in moving for dismissal of the charges, made this statement: "Upon the authority of the attorney general at Washington, the government will dismiss this complaint against the captain and crew of the I'm Alone. This will not prejudice the government's status in the sinking of the schooner. We shall maintain that the government had a right to pursue and sink the I'm Alone. Any further action for the indemnity for the sinking of the boat will have to be handled between the governments."

Stimson Receives Note.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., April 9.—[Special.]—A formal note protesting against the destruction of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone by coast guard gunfire off the Louisiana coast three weeks ago was handed to Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson late today by Vincent Massey, the Canadian minister to the United States. The note protests the sinking of the vessel on humanitarian grounds and presents the view that seizure of the vessel was illegal. The Canadian government does not accept the word of the coast guard that the vessel was found within the legal one-hour sailing limit set by the rum smuggling treaty of 1924. As a second point it asserts that even if the vessel was found within treaty waters, one hour's sailing distance from shore, the coast guard crew had no right, under the treaty or under international law, to pursue the vessel on to the high seas and send it to the bottom by gunfire. Sinking Considered Unwarranted.
Whether the Canadian government asked for an apology was not disclosed. It was indicated, however, that the Canadian government con-

STATE REFERENDUM ON DRY LAW ASKED IN MISSOURI SENATE

Jefferson City, Mo., April 9.—[Special.]—A resolution looking toward a state-wide referendum on repeal of the eighteenth amendment was introduced in the Missouri senate today by Senator Joseph Brogan, Democrat, St. Louis. The resolution, if adopted would direct the governor to memorialize congress, asking for submission of a proposition to repeal the eighteenth amendment. It also proposes to submit the question of repeal for a state-wide vote, asking for submission under the state referendum laws. A similar resolution has been prepared for introduction in the house by Representative Huber of St. Louis.

siders the sinking of the vessel unwarranted.
Attorney General Mitchell today said the dropping of the conspiracy cases against the crew of the I'm Alone would not change the right of the government to make such seizures.
"The question whether there was probable cause and legal justification, under the terms of the treaty between Great Britain and the United States, for search and pursuit of the vessel I'm Alone is wholly independent of the question of whether there is evidence to convict the officers and members of the crew of having joined in the commission of some offense within the territorial limits of the United States," the attorney general said. Staywest Fish Plans Suit.
New York, April 9.—[Special.]—Caruthers

Having announced today that an attorney for Staywest Fish, wealthy broker and sportsman, he was preparing to file suit against members of the coast guard whom Fish charges with brandishing pistols and using profanity during a vain search for liquor on the Fish yacht Restless.

Ewing said the civil action by Fish would ask for nominal damages, and was being instituted in an effort to obtain a judicial determination of the facts.

When reporters reminded him that the Fish yacht was halted and searched by members of the customs patrol and not the coast guard, Ewing said that, if that was so, the suit would be directed against the customs men.

The defendants, he said, will be charged with false imprisonment and assault on members of the Fish party. Norwegianians Send Note.
Washington, D. C., April 9.—[U.P.]—A formal request for an explanation of shots fired at the Norwegian banana boat Juan by a coast guard patrol in Chesapeake bay Friday is contained in a note to the state department, Norwegian Minister Backus said today. The Juan was allowed to proceed after a search revealed it carried no illegal liquor.

FIGHTING LINES DRAWN ON SUGAR DUTIES IN TARIFF

Sharp Increase in Rates
Asked and Opposed.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., April 9.—(Special.)—Substantial increases in duties on sugar, which Republican members of the house want and means committee are reported to have approved, assure one of the largest fights of the coming tariff revision.

Cuban sugar, under the rate approved by a vote of 11 to 4, would be subject to a duty of 2.4 cents per pound, while sugar from countries not receiving the benefit of the 20 per cent Cuban preferential would bear a duty of 3 cents per pound. Present rates are 1.75 and 2.3 cents per pound, respectively.

Timing up in support of the increased rates will be sugar beet growers and beet sugar producers of the middle west and far west and cane sugar producers of Louisiana and Texas. Against an increase will be American sugar refiners who import raw sugar from Cuba, Americans with investments in Cuba, confectionery manufacturers, and other consuming groups and the Cuban government.

Long Battle Line Seen.
The sugar increases promise to provoke a fight all along the line as the tariff bill progresses toward enactment. Enough votes are believed to be assured for approval when final action is taken by the full ways and means committee in spite of probable protests by Democratic members. The controversy will come out in the open on the floor of the house and again before the senate finance committee and on the floor of the senate.

Both sides to the battle already have formidable lobbies in Washington. The American Chamber of Commerce of Cuba, through its representatives in Washington, is attributing the increase to the influence of the Great Western Sugar company, which has twenty-one factories in Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, and Montana, and which produces approximately 50 per cent of the domestic crop of beet sugar. The chairman of the subcommittee, which considered the sugar schedule was Representative Charles Y. Timmerlake (Rep., Colo.), in whose state the company operates.

Philippines Defending Home.
Representative Timmerlake, besides favoring an increased duty on sugar, is the author of the resolution restricting imports of sugar from the Philippines to 500,000 tons annually, which has precipitated a storm of opposition in the islands.

According to the opponents of the increased sugar duties, the new rates will cost American consumers $18 million dollars, as against $48 million dollars under the present rates. This group points out that Americans have $80 million dollars invested in the Cuban sugar industry and that one faction of the tariff commission, after an investigation requested by the late President Harding reported that

EGYPT APPEALS TO U.S. TO KEEP TARIFF OFF LONG STAPLE COTTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, April 9.—The president of the General Agricultural Syndicate of Egypt, Mustafa Maher Pasha, in a cable dispatch to F. W. Tamm, says:

"The General Agricultural Syndicate of Egypt, speaking on behalf of Egyptian cultivators, feels it is its duty to make an appeal to American public opinion on the subject of the duty which it is proposed to levy on long staple cotton entering the United States and in order to express the deep feeling which has been aroused throughout Egypt by this proposal."

"The sympathy which has always been shown by America toward the Egyptians has caused them to hope for a progressive development of the economic and intellectual relations between the two countries. It would be a matter of regret if such a serious protectionist measure as is proposed should come to interrupt this development without the United States finding in it any real economic benefit."

"Without speaking of the resulting check to the extension of American trade with Egypt, it is certain that the United States would be unable, on account of climatic conditions, the cost of labor, of agricultural labor, and so forth, to produce enough long staple cotton to satisfy American requirements. The protectionist measure in question would inflict harm on American spinners of fine cotton, purchasers of fabrics made from it, purchasers of automobile tires and other commodities in which long staple cotton is used. It would make the United States lose the place which her cotton fabrics has obtained abroad when they have succeeded in competing seriously with other countries."

"It would result definitely in a higher cost of living which would not be compensated for by any appreciable increase in the production of long staple cotton."

"Finally we would remind the United States that the duty which had previously been levied on this cotton was abolished in 1921, when our syndicate, as now, appealed to American public opinion and its appeal was heard."

differences in costs of production would be equalized by a reduction of the existing rate of 1.75 cents per pound to 1.54 cents a pound. The duty on Cuban sugar in the Underwood act of 1913 was 1 cent per pound, while in the Payne-Aldrich act of 1909 it was 1.34 cents.

Even Higher Rate Asked.
The domestic beet sugar interests, including producers in Indiana, southern Michigan, and Ohio, assert that an even higher rate than proposed would be justified as a means of protecting the domestic industry. These producers point out that only 15 per cent of the total consumption of sugar in the United States is now produced in this country, as compared with 23 per cent in 1913, that 55 per cent now comes from Cuba, as compared with 58 per cent in 1913, and that 6 per cent comes from the Philippines, as compared with 1 per cent in 1913.

Republican members of the ways and means committee are putting the finishing touches on the tariff bill. Nearly all the sub-committees have completed their work. The bill will be ready for introduction in the house, either on April 26 or April 27.

PAVEMENT COSTS CITY TWICE AS MUCH AS SUBURB

Jobs on Boundary of Park Ridge Compared.

Paving costs in Chicago are about twice as high as in Park Ridge, it was disclosed yesterday. Osmann avenue, which is known in the suburb as Highland avenue, was used as a basis of comparison. The middle of this street is the boundary between the two municipalities. Last summer, Park Ridge paved its half under an $18,977 contract. An engineering concern charged the village $1,400 for professional services and $1,400 was paid for levying and collecting the assessment and other legal work, making a total cost of $31,447 for the job.

Chicago is to pave its half of the street this summer. The city engineering department has estimated the cost at $45,000. The council has passed an ordinance for the improvement at this price, and the assessment roll is pending in County court.

Referred to Engineers.
President Michael F. Fahey of the board of local improvements was not in his office yesterday to explain this difference in cost. Elmer Brown, a member of the board, said costs were entirely in the hands of the engineering department.

A deputy in the engineering office said part of the difference in costs was due to Chicago having to build a drainage sewer while Park Ridge had one before the paving. An inspection of the specifications showed an item for a sewer that explained $4,784 of the $12,163 difference between the Park Ridge cost and the estimated Chicago cost.

There is a difference in the pavement specifications of the suburb and of the city. To a layman, Park Ridge appeared to be getting the better pavement. This is also the opinion of the consulting engineers, Cramer, Older and Quinlan, who are employed by the village.

Chicago's ordinance calls for concrete eight inches thick. Park Ridge, for about half the price, received a steel reinforced concrete from seven to nine inches thick. The village paid $2.30 a square yard for its re-inforced concrete. Chicago's estimate for its concrete, not re-inforced, is $4.50 a square yard.

Cost of Chicago Job.

The figures prepared by Chicago's engineers are as follows:

Price per	Total
sq. yd.	cost
2,500 ft. curb and gutter, 5	12.5 6,250
2,500 sq. yd. curb cutting	2.75 6,875
2,500 sq. yd. concrete	4.50 11,250
16 new catch basins	100.00 1,600
8 old catch basins	40.00 320
5 old man holes	10.00 50
100 ft. pipe	2.00 416
8 iron gratings	42.00 336
1,410 ft. 10 in. sewer	3.40 4,794
14 new man holes	100.00 1,400
90 inlet connections	2.40 216
Cost (free to office)	2,142
Total	$45,000

The expense items for Park Ridge, as compiled by Cramer, Older & Quinlan, follow:

Cost per	Total
sq. yd.	cost
2,500 ft. curb and gutter, 5	12.5 6,250

MADISON MAKES COURT TEST OF STUDENT VOTERS

Madison, Wis., April 9.—(Special.)

Influence of University Wisconsin students in Madison politics has again bobbed into attention here with a John Doe proceeding in Superior court to find out what went on in the First ward election when Frank Alford, veteran alderman, was defeated by Edna May Thomson, former university harem-foot theatrical club star.

Alderman Alford was defeated by 53 votes. Glenn Roberts, attorney for Mr. Alford, contends that a total of 113 students were voted by affidavit in the First ward, practically all by the solicitation of Mr. Thomson and his friends.

In order to vote a student must be twenty-one and must claim Madison as his home. Attorney Roberts contends that among the group that voted by affidavit there were students who came to the university from Illinois, Texas, Michigan and many other states, and forty of these students are being questioned in secret court proceedings to ascertain whether they could claim Madison as their home city.

Madison has about 10,000 students, with the total city population estimated at a little over 50,000.

Student voting has irritated the losing side of Madison's elections since years before national prohibition.

Designed for people who appreciate the finer things in life

THERE are many Americans of moderate means who recognize and appreciate the finer things in life. Their tastes are above reproach. Their judgment of values is sound. They appreciate fine homes, fine furniture, fine automobiles.

The New Pontiac Big Six was designed primarily for these progressive people. Its purpose is to give them the smooth, swift performance and the big car luxury and style that they have been seeking, without necessitating the payment of a high price. To achieve this result, it is powered by a big, new L-head engine with a larger, highly-perfected carburetor. Its rotating parts are all in accurate dynamic balance. It is equipped with noiseless, dirt-and-weather-proof, internal brakes. It is completed by stunning new Fisher bodies, the very essence of luxury and good taste. And it is serviced by more than 5,000 Oakland-Pontiac dealers, located in every section of the United States, all employing specially trained men and special equipment to assure the utmost in satisfaction at all times.

Tens of thousands of progressive people are already driving the New Pontiac Big Six. And thousands more are joining their ranks each week. For among the things that they appreciate is this opportunity to step up the quality of their cars without leaving the low-priced field.

Prices $745 to $995, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and Looney shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

ELLER AIDS' ALIBI WITNESS IS CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Challenge Story of Fifth
Man as Defense Opens.

A defense witness was cited for contempt of court yesterday as attorneys for the thirteen henchmen of Morris Eller, boss of the bloody 29th ward, who are on trial in Judge Frank D. Comerford's court, opened their case with the introduction of alibi witnesses. The citation was demanded by prosecutors who challenged the testimony. The witness is Louis Weiss, 59 years old, a plumber, 1342 South Sangamon street. He is the fifth whose testimony has been disputed since the opening of the trial. Three state witnesses are being held on bench warrants charging perjury, and another, John Freeman, was sentenced to six months in the County Jail for contempt by Judge Comerford Monday.

Offers Alibi for Three.
Weiss was put on the stand to offer an alibi for Sam Kaplan, Benjamin (Buddy) Jacobson, and Abe Klaus, henchmen of the Ellers, who were named by state witnesses as kidnapers of Joe Robinson, colored watchman. Weiss testified that the three defendants were not near the polling place at the 8th precinct of the 29th ward where he was employed as a watchman. He added that he had seen Joe Robinson at the polling place at 9 o'clock on the morning of primary day. On cross-examination Chief Prosecutor Edwin Raber sought to shake his story by pointing out that previous witnesses set the hour of the kidnapping at 8:15 that morning. Weiss insisted the story was true.

At his left the stand Prosecutor Raber signalled to a court bailiff to take the witness in custody. Defense Attorney Ben Short intercepted the move by cautioning Weiss to stay in the courtroom.

Jacobson Denies Kidnaping.
Prosecutor Raber protested and the attorneys conferred with Judge Comerford in his chambers. Judge Comerford ordered Weiss arraigned before him this afternoon and released him on Attorney Short's promise to produce him in court.

The first of the defendants to take the stand in his own defense was Jacobson. He denied participation in any kidnaping and declared that he had not seen Attorney C. Ray Hansen until after the indictments were returned. Hansen was a watchman who said he was held prisoner by the Eller henchmen at 1342 South Sangamon street.

Jacobson declared that he had previously been a candidate for alderman and ward committeeman against the Eller faction with the support of Sen. Deeney.

Former Prosecutor Testifies.
Samuel Z. Pincus, former city prosecutor, was an alibi witness for Jacobson. He said that he had been talking with Jacobson for nearly an hour in the afternoon of primary day in the polling place of the 13th precinct of the 29th ward.

The first defense witness called was Barth Henry, a chauffeur for the Central Auto Service, who offered an alibi for Peter Facelli, former policeman, identified as one of the kidnapers of George Douthard, colored worker. Henry testified that the automobile alleged to have been used in the kidnaping was driven in the service of the election commissioners on primary day. Harry Schwartz, judge of election in a polling place at 818 14th street, was the final witness of the day, testifying on behalf of Klaus, Jacobson, and Kaplan.

HE SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS
Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief in 2 Months—Doctor Recommended It

Constipation is dreaded not only for its own insidious self, but because of the many serious conditions and diseases it causes. Mr. Lind was a sufferer but read how he found relief.

"For the past 10 years I have suffered from piles. At times I have been unable to work. I have tried suppositories, ointments, etc., but to no avail. Two months ago my grocer called my attention to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I began taking it regularly. Immediately the pain and annoyance from the piles was relieved. I found that it requires very little ALL-BRAN to give nature a fair chance to effect a cure."—Walter J. Lind, R. 2, Box 127, Appleton, Wis.

Don't neglect constipation. At any time its poisons may take terrible toll from your health and wellbeing. Protect yourself. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly—two tablespoons daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN brings sure, natural relief. It is what doctors call a bulk food. It sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Also try the recipes on the package. Results guaranteed. Doctors recommend it because it is 100% bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants, and dining cars. Sold by all grocers.

CRIMINAL COURT.

WEST SIDE TIRED OF BEING CALLED CITY'S BACK DOOR

Dr. Robertson Pleads for Elevated Drive.

BY CARL WARREN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Springfield, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]
—Declaring that the west side no longer will tolerate description as "Chicago's back yard," Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the west park board, today urged the legislature to give the people of that district the right to build a great superhighway comparable to the north and south boulevards.

Dr. Robertson, heading a delegation of business men, appeared before the house municipalities committee in behalf of the Overland bill, which provides for a referendum on a $20,000,000 bond issue for an elevated drive to extend from the loop to Oak Park, the route to be designated by the Chicago Plan commission. Such a drive would relieve the traffic congestion on Jackson and Washington boulevards and give the west side access to the loop like that enjoyed by other parts of the city.

Others Will Be Heard.
Final action on the bill was postponed by the committee until Tuesday to allow other interested persons to be heard.

"With the bond money we previously have received," said Dr. Robertson, "we have done our best to facilitate traffic movement, but the situation still is intolerable. It is agreed that the only logical way to solve the problem is with an elevated drive. The people want it and will vote for it. All we ask is that the legislature give them the right to do so."

Dr. Robertson admitted the bond issue would mean a tax increase of 21 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation in the West Park district for 20 years. He continued, however, this increase would be counterbalanced by the savings in burned gasoline alone.

No Tax Boosting Measure.
"This is no tax boosting measure," he asserted. "It is a good investment—a bargain considering its benefits. It means a savings of countless hours of time lost now because of traffic jams. We are not hoisting a burden onto the people without their consent. If they don't want it they can reject it and they will vote for it."

Dr. Robertson explained that the Park board expects to work in close harmony with the plan commission, the city, and the county in choosing the route. Four streets have been proposed for development, Folk, Congress, Monroe, and Fulton. Dr. Robertson said he favored a highway paralleling the C. & N. W. tracks north of Lake street, but that he would compromise on any other route.

Two Rise to Oppose Bill.
When Chairman E. J. Schnackenberg asked if any one present opposed the measure, Harris Koeler, director of the bureau of public efficiency, and Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Civic federation, arose. Their arguments were postponed until Tuesday.

Two other bills of significance to Chicago were referred to subcommittees. One, the Galvin bill, supported by the Thompson regime, has two important provisions. The first would allow the city to deposit its funds in New York and other banks outside of Chicago, while the second would authorize the corporation counsel to act as attorney for city officials sued as individuals on charges of fraud and conspiracy in connection with their official duties.

The other bill is that of Representative William V. Pacelli, providing for a four year term for all municipal officials, including Chicago aldermen. Representative E. W. Turner was appointed chairman of the subcommittee to consider this measure.

The Day in Springfield

SENATE.
Passed Just House bill to relieve Chicago firemen's pension fund by three year tax increase.

Committee on criminal procedure recommended Courtney anti-race bill.
New bills—By Courtney, to provide for election of Chicago Municipal court judges in June instead of November; by Mendel, to prohibit blasting in quarries within Chicago city limits; by Mendel, to permit city to lease property at Madison street and the river for 99 years; by Wright, to appropriate $1,725,019 to department of registration and education for biennium.

HOUSE.
Passed administration bills to place constitutional amendments on main ballot, now requiring only senate concurrence in routine amendments.
Voted to appropriate $481,000 for service men in state institutions.
Congressman W. E. Hull urged $3,000,000 appropriation for state flood control.

Advanced Weber-O'Grady bill to repeal state prohibition act to third reading after inserting referendum clause.
Passage of west side superhighway bill urged by Dr. John Dill Robertson before municipalities committee.
Women's eight hour bill recommended by industrial affairs committee.

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki advocated codification of election laws before elections committee.
Judiciary committee approved bill to allow creating of sanatorium school.

NEW BILLS.—By Blackwell, to provide for horse racing commission appointed by governor and to bar racing on Sunday; by Harris, to require elevation of all railroad tracks in Chicago; by Elrod, to make school teachers eligible to retirement on pension after an aggregate of 15 years' service.

REPORT MISSING PLANE FOUND IN AUSTRALIA WILDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
STONEY, April 9.—A report that natives had discovered the missing airplane, Southern Cross, on the coast 30 miles southwest of Drysdale Mission, has not been confirmed. The report said Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions were safe and a boat was standing by to take them aboard.

The federal government has agreed to share half the cost for the search for the airplane Southern Cross. The New South Wales government has contributed $5,000. Air mail service in West Australia has been suspended to enable more machines to be used.

New theories on the place where the plane might have landed include the Montgomery Islands, in Collier bay, about 20 miles from the northwest coast, where there is plenty of food and water. Another possible place is near Mount House station, 30 miles east of Port George.

The weather is now ideal for flying. The search is being centrally organized and supplies of gasoline and oil are being rushed to the centers which are being used as bases.

ASKS REFERENDUM ON NOVA SCOTIA'S TEMPERANCE ACT.
HALIFAX, N. S., April 9.—[AP.]
A bill calling for a public referendum on the Nova Scotia temperance act which prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors except for medicinal purposes, was introduced in the legislature today.

The bill provides for a public vote before Oct. 1 and carries no suggestion of alternative legislation. The question to be voted upon being merely: "Are you in favor of continuing the Nova Scotia temperance act?"

The prohibition question has been a live issue in Nova Scotia for several years and the operation of the temperance act has been the subject of frequent criticism.

At present Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia are the only two provinces in Canada which do not operate under some system of government control.

JARECKI URGES REVISED ILLINOIS ELECTION LAWS

Favors Cheney Bill for a Commission of Ten.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Springfield, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]
—A complete overhauling and rewriting of the election laws of Illinois, which he described as "archaic," was urged before the house committee on elections today by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who controls the election machinery of Chicago and Cook county.

Judge Jarecki spoke in support of the bill introduced by the late Representative Flora S. Cheney providing for the appointment of a commission of ten, composed of three representatives, three senators, three persons named by the governor, and the secretary of the legislative council, to handle the codification work. The committee would be appropriated $25,000 and would make its report in the form of a comprehensive legislative program in 1931.

Judge Jarecki said, are 100 pages of election laws, many of them conflicting and several unworkable.

Simpler Registration.
Most needed in Chicago, the judge said, is a new system of registration whereby voters may register at any time during the year instead of upon stated days, a more simple ballot counting scheme, and a shorter ballot.

"In past years the legislature, haphazardly, has rushed through piecemeal remedial legislation which has helped little if at all," he said.

"The plan proposed in the Cheney bill is a sound way to proceed. Let a commission make a study of all election laws in the United States, consult with experts, and bring back a comprehensive revision program."

Judge Jarecki also gave his tentative approval to the bill of Representative W. G. Thon of Oak Park, designating the form of the Massachusetts ballot for adoption in Illinois.
Massachusetts Plan Considered.
The principal new feature in this bill is elimination of the party circle, listing candidates under the office for which they are running rather than under a party emblem. It provides further for placing of propositions at the side of the main ballot instead of on separate little ballots.
The Thon bill is sponsored by the Illinois League of Women Voters and the City club of Chicago. Speakers representing both organizations appeared before the committee today.

Both the Thon bill and the Cheney bill are to be acted upon, it is expected, by the committee next week. Consideration was postponed pending the report of subcommittees on several other election reform bills.

FILM... a dangerous coating that robs teeth of their whiteness

A way to remove it that restores brilliance

Film, it is agreed, also fosters serious tooth and gum disorders. You must remove it.

Film that is found by dental research to discolor teeth and foster serious tooth and gum disorders

THERE is a scientific way to keep teeth white and brilliant. A way science itself evolved to safeguard better against the commoner tooth and gum diseases, including pyorrhea.

The source of discolored teeth is a sticky, dingy film. Film, too, is the source of serious dental troubles. Science knows this—thus the approved method today of protecting teeth is by removing film. A special dentifrice called Pepsodent has been compounded with that as its sole purpose.

You must fight film
Feel for film with your tongue — a slippery, viscous coating. Food and smoking stain that film. Germs by the millions breed in it... germs of many different kinds.

Film hardens into tartar. And germs with tartar are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Film is also the basis of decay.

The special way to remove it
Ordinary brushing ways are not successful. You must employ the scientific method that first curdles film. Light brushing then can easily remove it in safety to enamel. Old ways may be discarded.

As children's teeth appear you marvel at their whiteness. Yours may once again regain that color. May take on a brilliance that is actually amazing. Lustreless, dull teeth are known to be unnatural.

Test Pepsodent for one week
Perhaps unattractive teeth have cost you too much in society and business. You must not delay another day in testing this method.

Get a full-size tube wherever dentifrices are sold.

Beware when lovely teeth are placed at stake. The finest dentifrice is never too costly when science recommends it.

Pepsodent
The Special Film-Removing Dentifrice

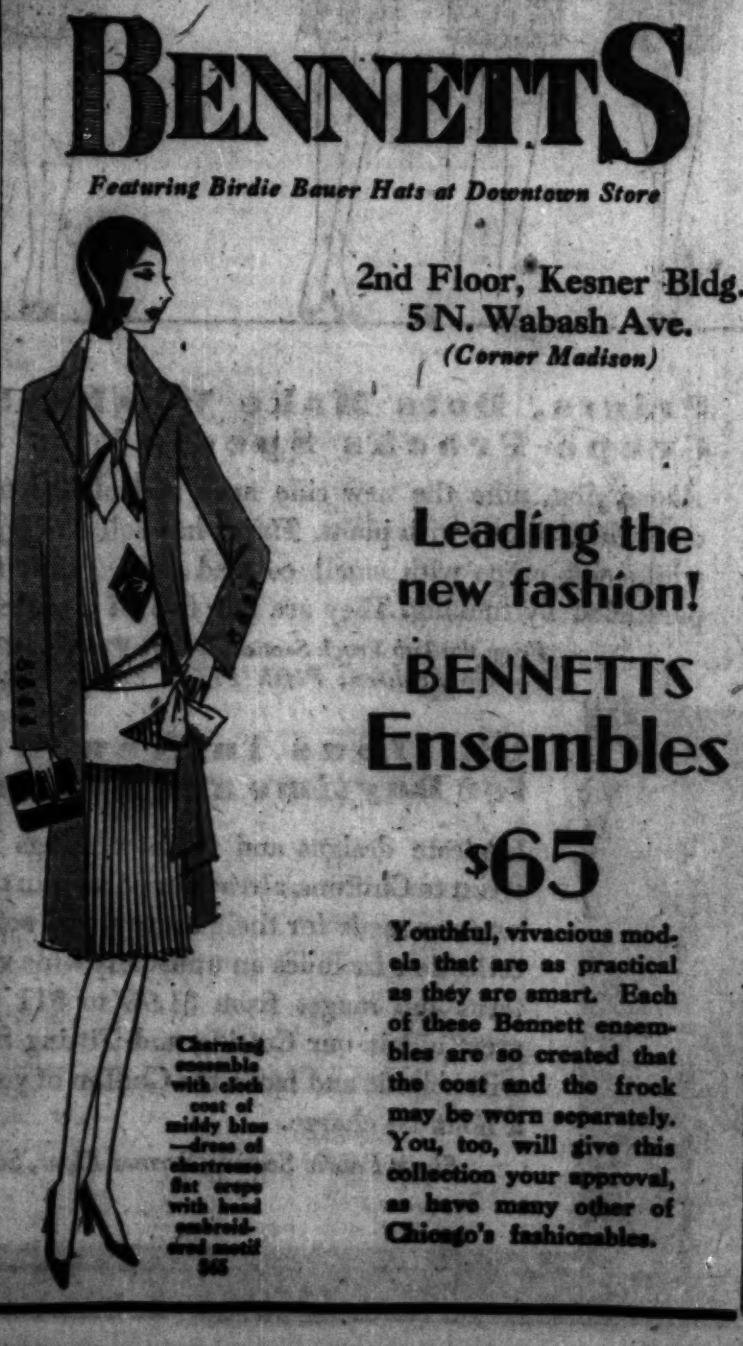

Pepsodent is a formula that differs in action from any other—more than that, dentifrice is a scientific term prophylaxis.

CROWE KINSMAN JUROR; MAY HALT SANITARY QUIZ

Yearly Political Whoopee Party Revealed.

The discovery that Thomas C. Keegan, 1947 Columbia avenue, one of the members of the special grand jury, is a brother-in-law of Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the sanitary district, whose regime is under investigation, will probably cause Chief Justice John J. Sullivan of the Criminal Court to enter an order today on the motion of the state's attorney to discharge the entire panel.

While this discovery was being made Assistant State's Attorney Thomas H. Stummer and John Elliott Byrne were uncovering evidence of a yearly party held in the offices of the Morris D. Kallis Printing company, at which judges and leading political figures were the guests. The printing contracts allowed to Kallis by the sanitary district are to be the subject of the first investigation, as was shown by the fact that two employees of the concern were taken before the regular jury.

Judge Questions Keegan.
Keegan's kinship to Crowe was uncovered through the work of an anonymous informer, who telephoned the fact to newspaper offices and to the special prosecutors.

When the special grand jury assembled at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to hear the first evidence in the renewed sanitary district investigation, Prosecutors Byrne and Stummer asked the jurors to excuse them pending a conference with Judge Sullivan. The prosecutors informed the judge of the information relayed to them by the reporters and Keegan was called into chambers for questioning.

Keegan frankly admitted his relationship to Crowe, but said that it would in no wise interfere with his being a fair juror. He told the judge that he had not made known his relationship to the former district president because the jurors were not asked any questions about themselves or given any opportunity to speak other than on strict legal issues.

Name on Satisfactory List.

Judge Sullivan explained his reason for not quizzing the jurors. He pointed out that the prosecutors had given him two lists, one of men satisfactory to them for jury service and the other of men who, the state investigators said, did not come up to specifications. The jury was picked from the satisfactory list and Keegan's name appeared thereon.

The unsatisfactory list contained the name of one man dead for more than two years, and several names of men closely tied up with political factions. The investigators explained they had overlooked Keegan's relationship to Crowe because none of the neighbors questioned about him had revealed it to them.

Assistant State's Attorney Otto Pasig was immediately assigned to look up the law on the subject of whether a new juror could be substituted for Keegan. Assistant State's Attorney Edwin Spiro, however, who has had charge of grand juries for years, informed his associate that the only feasible method was to discharge the entire jury and petition for a new panel. This will delay proceedings for at least several weeks, unless it is decided to use the regular grand jury as was done yesterday.

Will Not Hear Evidence.

"One thing is certain and that is that the special jury as at present constituted will not be allowed to hear the evidence of the sanitary district investigation," said First Assistant State's Attorney Frank J. Loesch, who has charge of the inquiry.

A hasty perusal of the sanitary district pay rolls yesterday showed nine Keegans as drawing salary during 1928. Whether all or any of them are relatives of the juror or of Crowe could not be ascertained last night.

Mrs. Ida Montagna, secretary of the Kallis Printing company, was the principal witness subpoenaed for yesterday. Her testimony was taken before the regular jury. She told of the yearly parties put on by Kallis for his political friends. The party was usually held in January and was for the purpose of celebrating and showing appreciation for the large amount of municipal work enjoyed by Kallis, who is a brother-in-law of the late Michael Rosenberg, trustee of the district.

Find Discrepancy in Bills.

Mrs. Montagna was asked to explain the discrepancies appearing in the bills.

Summons Ten Who Ignored Questionnaire on Pay Roll

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]—Ten members of the house of representatives who failed to answer the questionnaire of the Branson sanitary district investigation committee regarding their public pay roll connections tonight were subpoenaed by the committee to appear before it and make an explanation.

Out of the total house membership of 158, three representatives having died since election, only 155 answered the questionnaire which was sent out two weeks ago. Chairman R. J. Branson announced.

The ten who ignored the questionnaire tonight, he said, are the first batch of the delinquents, all of whom will be put under oath and required to divulge the information they failed to give voluntarily. The subpoena is ordered the ten to testify at a committee session tomorrow afternoon.

Those subpoenaed were John Acker, Savannah; Wallace A. Bandy, Marion; Grover C. Borders, East St. Louis; James P. Boyle, Chicago; M. E. Bray, Litchfield; P. J. Breen, Metcalfe; Thomas J. Clancy, Chicago; John Clark, Decatur; Edmund P. Conerton, La Salle; and Leo D. Crowley, Peoria.

Checkup Shows Missing.

The decision of the committee to proceed at once with the examination of house members was made at a session late today after a checkup of the questionnaire replies against information gathered by the committee in Chicago showed that several members on the drainage board pay roll had not responded.

At the same session the committee by a vote of 4 to 2, decided to appeal to Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom for advice as to how to proceed when the taking of testimony is completed.

The members voting for the appeal to Mr. Carlstrom were Thomas P. Simpson, Leroy M. Green, Lee McDermott, and C. D. Franz. Chairman Branson and Representative Carl E. Robinson opposed it.

In their letter to the attorney general the majority of the committee indicated that they are in a quandary as to what they can do, if anything, to punish the members found on the pay rolls.

Ask for Legal Goldpost.

"Will you kindly advise us," the letter asked, "as to what proceedings we are justified in taking, particularly as to what legal functions we would be pursuing in determining whether or not the house members involved on any pay roll had actually performed services and earned the salary or salaries paid them?"

It is not usual to expect continued smartness in a car... but then the Lincoln is not a usual car. The foremost car-makers contribute their best craftsmanship to give it a type of beauty rather than need be, perhaps—but beauty that cannot be touched by passing modes and fancies. And in the chassis there is engineering that makes for years of silent, carefree performance—keeping a Lincoln modern in what it does, much as its unchanging style keeps it modern in appearance.

A few thousand miles of use, a year or so of age, are really very little in the life of such a car as the Lincoln. Lincolns of previous years, cars with some service—Lincolns in everything the name implies—are sometimes sold by dealers at most attractive rates. Authorized Lincoln dealers are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

Officials Out of City.

The witness said that she was not in the employ of the company during most of this time, but that a Miss Donnelly was in charge. The latter left Chicago, it was discovered, about the time the investigation of the printing contracts started. Kallis is also out of Chicago. He is reported in Lexington, Ky., looking after his race horse interests. Crowe is also reported out of the city.

John Meret, a foreman in the Kallis plant, was the other witness before the jury. He claimed that 100,000 copies of the President's message was printed, although the prosecutors' cash account for only 200,000 pamphlets. A book on mosquito abatement was also the subject of inquiry.

COLOR SPACE in the American Weekly sells at the lowest price ever charged per circulation-thousand—at a Scotch profit over black and white rates.

Its editorial expense, divided into a 5,600,000 edition, is so infinitesimal that arithmetic has no fractions small enough to signify per-copy cost.

The American Weekly is sold entirely through newsdealers; which frees the lineage rate from subscriptions and clubbing discounts, mailing list upkeep, and the heavy solicitation, promotion and postage outlays of competitive periodicals.

The American Weekly can't even furnish "dear reader's" name. It doesn't know the gentleman.

It ships over 5,600,000 copies every week into Uncle Sam's ready-money belt—to dispose themselves on the merit of popular appeal and at ten cents each.

American Weekly circulation stands on its content quality—and that stands so high in public esteem that the next largest publication anywhere is just about half as big.

The American Weekly sells circulation without inducement or wheedle trimmings—straight circulation—productive circulation—voluntary circulation. Nobody reads The American Weekly who doesn't like it a full ten cents' worth.

Nobody reads The American Weekly where there aren't retailers immediately at hand to provide the merchandise it offers.

Its marketing power is concentrated in High-wagedom and Crowdopolis. Its circulation is produced without waste, and there are no waste elements in its circulation.

Its space users contact with twenty-five million prospects whose shops and department stores absorb the bulk of national output in wearing apparel and cosmetics, silk stocking and druggist's sundries, canned goods and packaged foods, soaps and automobiles, cigarettes and radio sets, talking machines and tires, manicure specialties, shampoos, confectionery and household conveniences, hair restorers—or "what have you?"

SPEED WISCONSIN DRY REPEALER IN SENATE, HOUSE

Madison, Wis., April 9.—[Special.]—The legislature here today to get the state dry act will be given a hearing before the committee on encls and fees tomorrow afternoon. A bill by Assemblyman John W. Grohensmidt, Milwaukee, to repeal the state dry act will be given a hearing before the committee on encls and fees tomorrow afternoon. The bill is a simple repealer but an amendment is being prepared which will leave certain regulatory provisions in force, such as arrests for drunkenness. This bill will be the first to be heard on the subject. But the senate also is starting on a repealer. Senator Walter Polakowski, Milwaukee, introduced a repeal bill today and he moved that it be sent directly to the finance committee with the contention that the people have already set the policy and that remains but the financial consideration.

Last Adult Male of Foch Family Dies Suddenly

PARIS, April 9.—[Col. Alexander] Foch, 49, son-in-law of the late Marshal Ferdinand Foch, and the last adult male member of the Foch family, died of heart failure in a train this morning as he was returning to Paris from Clermont-Ferrand. He had just completed several months of treatment in a sanatorium. Marshal Foch's only son and other son-in-law were killed in the war. The family now consists of three widows and the grandchildren.

COUNCIL'S SLATE MAKERS TANGLE OVER VACANCIES

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 9.—[Special.]—Dispute over the three vacancies on the local transportation committee today tangled up the five aldermen who compose the Chicago city council's committee on committees. The committee is in session here to determine the council's organization for the next two years.

Six candidates were mentioned. Two of the vacancies are in the group of ten wards—11 to 20—represented by Ald. Joseph B. McDonough (18th), chairman of the local transportation committee. McDonough is supporting Ald. James G. Coyle (17th), Terence F. Moran (16th), and William B. O'Toole (14th) for the three vacancies. However, one place was vacated by a defeated alderman from the ten wards—31 to 40—for which Ald. Max Adamowski (38th) is spokesman and he has nominated Ald. George Seif (35th).

With a battle still raging around the chairmanship of the harbor committee, Ald. B. A. Cronson (4th) is said to have made the proposal that if Ald. William A. Rowan (10th) does not get this post he must have a place on the transportation committee. The sixth candidate is Ald. Albert E. Loeschner (44th), who is backed by Ald. Oscar F. Nelson (44th).

J. B. Greenwald, Head of Furniture Company, Dies

J. B. Greenwald, 67 years old, president of the General Furniture company, operating twelve Chicago stores, died of heart disease last night at his home, 4847 Woodlawn avenue. He had been a widower and two daughters, Mrs. Florence Engelhardt and Alice Ruth Greenwald. His funeral will be held at 10:30 a. m. Friday at the chapel at 936 East 47th street. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

REVEAL PLOT TO SEIZE MUKDEN, KILL AND DESTROY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
TOKYO, April 9.—The lurid details of a plot of death and destruction, aiming at the overthrow of the Mukden government as a reprisal for alleged anti-Japanese sentiment, was revealed today by the arrival at the town of Mofei of fourteen Japanese conspirators, headed by Hakuro Kobinata, 30 years of age.

The plotters were working in co-operation with 160 Manchurian bandits. They proposed to blow up the Mukden electric power house and the gates of the walled Chinese city, and then during the ensuing darkness seize the 10,000 Mukden troops stationed at Pei-tai-yung could arrive over the road, previously bombed. According to Kobinata, the story of the plot was discovered by the Japanese authorities on the afternoon of the day in the evening of which the plan was to be put into execution.

AURORA MAN DIES OF MENINGITIS ON TOUR OF WORLD

Everett Beckwith, Aurora sportsman, died yesterday in the harbor of Manila, Philippine Islands, of spinal meningitis, which he contracted on a cruise around the world, according to a cable received at Aurora last evening by his son, James Beckwith. His widow, Cyra, and his daughter, Sue, were with him at the end. Mr. Beckwith was a principal stockholder in the Western Wheel and Scraper company of Aurora. He maintained a racing stable at Aurora, and had won several minor golf championships on Florida links. He was 66 years old. In addition to his widow, son and daughter, Mr. Beckwith is survived by his brother, Warren Beckwith of Los Angeles.

JULIANO SEIZED AS MEMBER OF BOMB SYNDICATE

Lorenzo Juliano, reputed head of Chicago Heights' boom ring, who was arrested a year ago in connection with the bombing of the home of Senator Deneen, was taken into custody yesterday as a suspected member of a bombing syndicate, which for months, police say, has spread terror in the Italian district.

The arrest, made at Taylor and Halsted streets, followed the confession Monday of Joseph Cero, 2448 Arthington street, who said he made bombs for the syndicate. In his confession Cero implicated three others. Louis Tufano, 2100 Taylor street, is already in custody, while Peter Floresta of Melrose Park and a man known only as Pete are being sought. Cero's confession solved more than 20 bombings perpetrated during the last year, the police say.

JUDGE FREES ONE OF 35 ON TRIAL FOR TERRORISM

Evidence Is Completed in Candy Jobber Case.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley late yesterday granted a defense motion freeing Simon Gorman, on trial with thirty-five members of the Chicago Association of Candy Jobbers, who are accused of conspiracy and terrorism. The court ruled that there was insufficient evidence to convict Gorman. This morning closing arguments will begin and the fate of the defendants is expected to be in the hands of a jury late in the day.

The court will rule this morning on similar motions to free all defendants excepting John Hand, secretary treasurer of the organization, whose plea for discharge was denied at the conclusion of the defense case. Judge Lindley indicated yesterday, however, that he would deny the defense motions, stating that he felt "the government had established a prima facie case against most of the defendants and their guilt or innocence is a matter for the jury."

Gorman's dismissal followed his appearance on the witness stand where he testified that he had never connected with the jobbers' association and knew nothing of the alleged terrorism which was the principal basis for the indictment.

Hand, one of the principal defendants, testified yesterday that he had never represented himself as a member of the state's attorney's staff nor flashed a star on candy jobbers whose activities had not been approved by the association, as had been said by prosecution witnesses.

HOLD DISCOVERER OF BOMB MAILED TO ROOSEVELT

New York, April 9.—(AP)—Questioned for hours today by postal inspectors on the possibility that he had addressed a "scare" bomb to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt hoping to be rewarded when he "discovered" it himself, Thomas J. Calley, porter in the New York general postoffice, stoutly affirmed his innocence.

Suspicion first turned to Calley when the inspectors discovered wrappings on the bomb, which the porter said he accidentally struck Sunday night, were not burned. Then they remembered that a Chicago porter recently was promoted when he discovered a bomb in the postoffice and started an investigation into Calley's affairs.

They found that he was a radio fan, which also linked in with their theory that he might have placed the package in the postoffice, because the bomb was constructed partly from radio parts. They took Calley from his home in Hoboken, N. J., to the police headquarters there today and questioned him for hours. He denied knowing anything of the bomb until it "exploded" under his feet.

Those arrested were charged with inciting to riot and probably will be given a hearing tomorrow.

Three Strikes but No Fish Until He Used a NICHOLSON FILE

A banker tells us this one. He was fishing in Maine. Three times he had made a "strike" but in each case the fish had made good his escape.

At this point, the guide took a hand. Reaching under the seat of the boat he produced a Nicholson File and applied it to the barb of the hook. The next time a fish struck at that hook he found himself flopping about on the floor of the boat.

We recommend a Nicholson File for sharpening fish hooks—and your hand—when dealer as the man to supply you in shape and class for every demand.

RAILWAY HEADS
ASSERT VIEWS
ON CONDITIONSSargent Complains
About Rates.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Public opinion of the American railroad situation was presented yesterday by the heads of several of the big systems at annual stockholders' meetings.

President Fred W. Sargent of the Chicago and North Western complained that western roads are discriminated against in rate structures. President J. M. Davis of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western deplored motor vehicle competition. President Charles Bussell of the Northern Pacific reported larger earnings but dismissed rumors of larger dividends. President John J. Burnett of the Erie expressed hope that dividends on the common stock can be resumed at the end of the year.

Mr. Sargent charged western roads have been discriminated against by present tariff schedules to the extent of $100,000,000 between 1925 and 1928. Their revenues would have been that much larger if their rates had been on a par with those granted the eastern and southern roads. He said the western lines have requested an upward revision of rates and anticipate reasonable correction.

Comparative Results.

However, Mr. Sargent compared operating results in 1925 and 1928, showing that gross revenues were about $4,000,000 larger in the latter year, while expenses increased only about $1,000,000. The stockholders approved having the Northern Pacific guarantee bonds to be issued by the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha next year in its refinancing program. John Stuart was elected a director. The financial report has been previously printed.

Passenger traffic of the Lackawanna declined 1,016,000 persons last year as the result of competition from motor vehicles. Mr. Davis said. Passenger revenues fell off $1,000,000. Net income for 1928 was $18,129,542, equivalent to $7.77 a share on the common stock. Net income in 1927 was $15,767,771, or $5.30 a share.

The Northern Pacific last year had losses in all forms of revenue except passenger. Freight revenue increased $6,262,023, but passenger revenue declined $1,040,453. Total operating revenues increased $5,497,505, while transportation expenses increased only $3,222. Net income was $11,313,216, an increase of $2,594,786. President Donnelly said no change would be made in the present dividend plan pending a decision by the interstate commerce commission on the Northern Pacific-Great Northern unification plan. B. W. Scandrett and E. A. Gay were elected directors.

Questions on the dividend outlook were asked at the Erie meeting, and Mr. Burnett replied that he hoped the officers could make some definite recommendation before this year ends.

"In the meantime we hope the bond market will improve," he said. "We might possibly sell some bonds or some stock to finance improvements." The Chesapeake and Ohio reported net income of $28,798,102, an increase of $28,610 over 1927. This was equivalent to $24.35 a share on the common stock, compared with $24.65 a share in 1927.

Sees Trend to Automat in Distribution

BY SCRUTATOR.

Automatic vending machines seem destined to play a much greater part in the future scheme of distribution than they have in the past.

Quite definitely, the coin in the slot salesman, the troth business man, has begun to scramble out of the penny class and is bidding for nickels and dimes and quarters. It is only a step further to the 50 cent sale and an investor has already come forward with a machine which he claims will be able to take in dollar bills and determine whether they are genuine.

One of the largest companies merchandising through the iron men—a term that is even more fitting for these devices than it is for the particular ticket sellers at the race tracks—is working energetically on a plan to have an automatic grocery in the basement of every large apartment building. Olin Thomas of Chicago, a vice president of the concern, is authority for the statement.

"One of the fundamental principles of success of the chain groceries of today is that they have been located in the neighborhood," he said. "They have attempted to bring the goods to the people. Why not bring the goods directly to the homes of the people, making a system still more convenient?"

Would Cost Costs, Is Claim.

The idea, obviously, has possibilities. There are no mechanical difficulties in the way of it. Machines can be made to handle canned vegetables and meats or any other package goods that will sell for prices competitive with the established stores. It is even reasonable to assume that with one man tending dozens of these automatic stores, and with his duties consisting simply of collecting the receipts and restocking the iron men, costs to the consumer could be cut down.

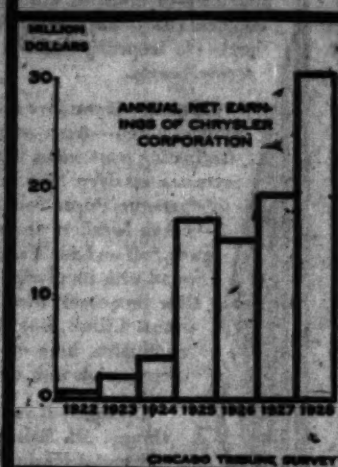

Until a year or so ago the automatic vendors dispensed little but chewing gum and penny snacks of candy. They were, on the same principle, the scales that weighed you for a penny, the peep show in the arcade and the piano that played as it was fed its nickel. Now handkerchiefs and cigarettes and toilet articles are sold automatically, with some of the largest manufacturers of these articles cooperating.

One of the original vending machine promoters was a German candy manufacturer. He placed the machines in strategic locations, hoping only that he would get advertising value from them. But the machines were so successful that he sold more candy through them than through his other outlets.

Effect on Employment.

The growth of machine sales of merchandise is certain to have an important effect on the employment situation. In many cases one man can handle 1,000 machines. As Mr. Thompson pointed out, a candy machine that fails to sell $100 a year is moved. Sales of $100,000 a year for one man's salary as retail salesman seems to have almost anything else in the field of distribution pretty well beaten.

One corporation last year is reported to have collected $3,500,000 in penny sales by machines. Another ran well above $1,000,000 and in March sold

YearsPROPOSED RADIO UNION IS PLACED AT MERCY OF A COOL CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., April 9.—(AP)—The proposed union of the Radio Corporation of America Communications, Inc., with the International Telephone and Telegraph company has been placed on the docket of congress, where Senator Dill, Democrat of Washington already has given it a cool reception.

Administration officials let it be known today that since such a union is prohibited under the last radio law it is a matter for congress and not executive action. Whereupon Senator Dill, who is a member of the senate committee handling radio, declared that "there is no valid reason why congress should repeal the anti-monopoly clause of the radio law."

"The fact that the Radio Corporation and the International Telephone and Telegraph companies," he added, "desire to form a merger which would violate it, proves that congress should not forget in establishing the prohibition."

The proposed merger was announced several weeks ago although the Davis amendment to the radio act specifically prohibits any combination of wire and radio companies. It was said at the time of the announcement that officials believed the outright purchase of the Radio Corporation's holdings by the International Telephone and Telegraph company would not come under the provisions of the radio law.

250,000 boxes of 5 and 10 cent goods. The automatic age seems to be coming, although it has its hazards. The automatic restaurant in Chicago went out of business some years ago.

There are iron men which will perform by the spray. One of the modern machines has two kinds of goods, the nickel smell and the dime aroma. They are popular in dance halls. Some have been put in hotels and have the owners find that those depending on male patronage are successful, while those placed for women are not. And that's what the machine age is doing for the men of 1929.

EXPRESS FIRMS
DOFF OVERALLS;
CRASH WALL ST."Investment Trust"
Is New Title.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, April 9.—When trading closed on the New York stock exchange today the common stock of the Adams Express company was quoted at $49 a share. One day last year the same shares could have been acquired by the armful for $195 apiece.

Similarly American Express, newly absorbed by the Chase National bank, was selling this afternoon for $355 against a 1928 low of $169. And American Railway Express, "the company without a business" (since the railroads took over the expressing interests on March 1) at $155 as compared with $110.50 on Jan. 4 of last year.

Which shows the express companies have crashed Wall street. They have laid aside their overalls and gone high hat. They are no longer common carriers of the country's merchandise but investment trusts and "securities affiliates," out and out, with no pretense of operating at the rather plebeian business for which they were formed.

Following Transfer.

Adams Express has become an investment trust pure and simple. It has been so ever since it turned over its physical properties along with the assets of other express companies to the government during the world war. Following this transfer the company proceeded to close out its other lines of business, disposing of its money order and foreign exchange business to the American Express company in the same year.

American Railway Express is the last of the companies to qualify for the upper rafted circles of upholders of the trust fund. The transfer of its express business to the Railway Express Agency, Inc., the agency formed by the railroads—95 per cent of them—to carry on the business.

True, the newcomer to the ranks of the ditto has not yet made its formal debut as an investment trust but Wall street entertains little doubt that it will do so, and on that theory is buying its stock in big blocks. At present the company's assets consist of nothing more than its name and charter and the $42,000,000 in cash and securities it received when it sold out its work-a-day business.

Estimate Value of "Meat."

Rights to subscribe to new stock of the Chase National bank and Chase Securities corporation were figured today as worth $120 a share on the present $100,000 shares of stock. This estimate follows announcement of a plan to increase and then split the capital stock of the two companies as part of the project to acquire the American Express company.

The rights, as calculated above, would mean a "meat" the value of

Withdraw Fangs from Reserve Board Warning

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., April 9.—Although represented since last Friday as holding a sword of Damocles over the stock market, and incidentally by some critics as over the neck of business, big and little, all over the country as well, the federal reserve board actually is contemplating no drastic action whatever. This was learned on the highest authority today.

Members of the reserve board, as a matter of fact, have been surprised at the speculation on the part of financial chroniclers and experts as to what might be done, and the demands in some quarters that for the sake of settling conditions the board come right out and say what it was going to do.

Satisfied with Situation.

Actually a considerable majority of the board is well satisfied with the present situation. They have succeeded, they think, in stopping a mad rush of speculation in the market which, if it had not been checked, would have led, in their opinion, to a crash which would have involved the entire business structure of the country.

They are highly optimistic about business conditions generally, and regard the nervousness in some quarters over certain business prospects as wholly unjustified.

While there is no immediate prospect of any action whatever by the reserve board, there are two weapons which were in the minds of the writer which to stockholders would amount to $39,000,000. Stockholders of the United States Express company have been notified by President D. I. Roberts that he has received an offer for the stock which would net holders $3.75 a share, provided he can deliver 51 per cent of the stock. The company, which formerly conducted a nation-wide express business, has been liquidating its assets since 1914, when it decided to go out of business.

Revenue of A. T. & T. Co.
Is Million Higher in Feb.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, April 9.—An increase of $1,100,000, or 14.1 per cent, is shown in the gross operating revenues of the American Telephone and Telegraph company in February, compared with the same month last year. The increase came despite the reduction in long distance rates which went into effect on Feb. 1, 1929, aggregating a saving of $5,000,000 annually to users of the long distance lines, and despite the decreased transatlantic telephone rates posted a year ago. The combined gain in gross operating revenues for January and February is over $2,000,000, or 17 per cent.

BY FRED HARVEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, April 9.—Thirty-two stocks covering a wide range of value and activity dropped to new low price records for the year in a selling movement brought on by tightening money conditions on the New York Stock exchange today.

The market was weak practically all along the line, cottons, oils, rails and specialties of diversified classification sliding off in a body. The losses ranged in the main from one to five points with a few scattered issues suffering even more acutely. American Express, newly absorbed by the Chase National bank, was the outstanding victim of the bear raid, hitting the bottom for an even 45 points.

Is Close Behind.

Adams Express followed hard behind the leader with a drop of 29, while American Railway Express fell off 5 points. Evidently with the "good news but" traders discovered these stocks were not so attractive as an investment as they were a few days before.

Call money advanced to 10 per cent

after the banks had called about $16,000,000 in loans, and funds were not so plentiful as they might have been even at the higher figure. Many observers saw in the new fund squeeze convincing proof that the federal reserve is having its own way in its determination not to let the banks come to the support of stocks when money is called and prices begin to sag.

Copper Slip Back.

Outside news bearing on the speculative situation was more or less mixed. The situation in copper was somewhat less satisfactory than it had been, with the customs refinery offering the metal at substantial concessions from the producers' price and this had its effect on that group. Kennecott slipped back nearly a point. Chiles was down an even point, and some of the others gave way under the persistent pressure. Support was forthcoming for the big leader, Anaconda, and it showed a fractional gain at the close.

A Small Fortune in the Past Ten Years

How often you hear some one say, "It doesn't seem long," referring to an event that happened five or ten years ago. For example, the end of the war seems almost like yesterday to many of us, yet it was more than ten years ago.

If you had invested $50 a month in H. O. Stone First Mortgage 6% Bonds during the past ten years, reinvesting the interest, you would have today about $8,200 in safe bonds. Have you done as well as this? Why not try it during the next decade?

The years speed past, bringing new opportunities and larger success to everyone who makes and follows a definite saving and investing program. H. O. Stone bond offerings are ideal for building a fortune.

THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES OF ADVERTISEMENTS, RESULTING FROM THE INVESTMENT RESEARCH AND ANALYSIS MADE BY THE STATISTICAL DEPARTMENT OF LAWRENCE STERN AND COMPANY IN CONNECTION WITH TYPICAL INDIVIDUAL INVESTMENT PROBLEMS

"Dividing An Estate"

AN interesting problem in the theory of investments—in connection with the investment of the funds of an estate—was recently made the subject of a report by the Statistical Department of Lawrence Stern and Company.

In this case, the estate—under the testator's will—was to be held intact for a certain period, but to be so invested that at certain designated dates in the future a part of the estate could be divided without liquidation among several beneficiaries; still another part to be placed in a permanent trust.

In the solution of such an investment problem, many interesting questions arise. For example, in order to divide the estate as provided, a degree of diversification was required which might not have been necessary in the case of a single investment fund. Again, it was necessary that the securities selected should be such as could properly be held and supervised by the various beneficiaries involved.

What type of securities should be selected to meet such a problem, and how should they be diversified?

What average income could reasonably be expected?

A discussion of the above questions, and others in connection with estate investment, is contained in the analysis made by our Statistical Department in this case—which report includes also a definite list of recommended securities.

In the belief that this analysis and list of recommendations might prove of interest and value to others, we have prepared reprints of this report; and we shall be glad to send a copy to any interested investor upon request.

WHEAT MARKET IRREGULAR; CORN PRICES ADVANCE

Oats Finish Lower; Rye Shows Gain.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Strong cables from abroad and indications that a large export business had been put through advanced wheat prices yesterday 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ over Monday's finish in the early trading.

While confirmation was secured as to the export sales later, messages suggesting that the farm relief program as outlined in recent press reports would meet with considerable opposition when the bill came up for consideration in the house led to profit taking and also bear pressure. The market reacted to below Monday's close, only to rally again toward the last on evening up for the government report. The finish was at net gains of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢. May being $1.21 1/4 to $1.21 1/2; July, $1.25 to $1.25 1/4; and September, $1.27 to $1.27 1/4.

Corn showed a firm undertone and gained 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ for the day. May being 92 1/2 to 93 1/2; July, 94 1/2 to 95 1/2; and September, 97 1/2 to 98 1/2. Oats finished 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ lower, with May showing the decline, closing at 49 1/2 to 50 1/2; July, 51 1/2 to 52 1/2; and September, 54 1/2 to 55 1/2. Rye was 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ higher, with May, $1.02 to $1.02 1/4; July, $1.05 to $1.05 1/4; and September, $1.08 to $1.08 1/4.

Europe Buys Cash Wheat.

At the high point which showed an advance of 50¢ to 1/2¢ from the inside figure of Monday, reflecting to a large extent the change in sentiment due to prospects of farm relief legislation and short covering. There was persistent conclusion, however, buying of July and September, while houses with eastern connections sold May on the bulge. Winnipeg was weak and finished 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ lower, with May here gaining 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ in the Canadian market, finishing at 53¢ to 54¢ under, against 50¢ under recently. Further rains were reported in the Canadian northwest, and there was also precipitation over the winter wheat belt.

European demand for cash wheat with sales finally estimated at 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 bu, including 500,000 to 1,000,000 bu durum, the balance being Manitoba. Part of the business was worked on Monday but not previously reported, and the continent as a whole showed more interest in foreign grain. Liverpool closed 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ higher, with American buying of May and October reported. Buenos Aires was unchanged to 1/4¢ lower at the last.

Lead Corn for Canada.

A cargo of cash corn is being loaded out for shipment to Canadian buyers here, and in the last few days 800,000 bu has been put afloat, making around 1,500,000 bu now in vessels awaiting the opening of lake navigation to clear for the east. A good part of the trade in futures was of a local character, with early strength in Buenos Aires inducing some buying. The latter market reacted toward the last and finished unchanged for the day. Wet weather prevailed over the belt, delaying field work. The spot basis was steady to 1/4¢ higher, with country offerings small, and southwestern offerings were reported as short of line.

Oats showed fair activity and the deferred deliveries averaged higher for the day, while selling by the north-west had a depressing effect on the May. Cash interest brought May and sold July. Rye was affected largely by the action of the wheat market, with shorts the best buyers.

SHARP BREAK IN BELLIES

Stop order selling of bellies yesterday by commission houses depressed prices for futures sharply, which developed support from packers and a good rally. The close was 3¢ to 4¢ net lower. Lard was under moderate pressure and closed 5¢ to 7 1/2¢ lower with trading not large, with considerable of it changing from near to distant futures. Liverpool lard was 3 to 4¢ lower. Exports from the seaboard were 3,077,016 lbs and bacon 1,295,000 lbs. The cash trade was light. Hogs were in good supply for the size of the demand with prices 25 to 30¢ lower. Arrivals in the west were materially larger than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

CHICAGO STOCK
PRICES CONTINUE THEIR DECLINE
Grigsby-Grunow Issue Is Chief Sufferer.
Chicago stocks continued to decline yesterday as money rates stiffened.
However, there were no severe breaks.
Prices dropped off in the early trading as the call loan rate moved up from 7 to 9 percent, but rallied somewhat toward the close in spite of a final 10 percent rate. Trading was dull, with a total turnover of only 15,000 shares.
Grigsby-Grunow was the most active issue and also the chief sufferer. The shares dropped to 123 and finished at 127, off 5 1/2 points on the day, on a turnover of 17,000 shares. The decline was accompanied by rumors of plant shutdown, curtailed production and laying off of workers. President
H. J. Grigsby said the company has temporarily gone on fifteen day week work, both because this is the slack season and because of moving and alterations incidental to opening a new plant. At present the company is turning out around 15,000 radio sets a week, but expects to resume capital production of 5,000 sets a day by June 15. The recent peak output was 4,000 sets a day.
Bendix and Borg-Warner were the next most active issues. Bendix rose up to 124, but dropped back to 123 for a net loss of 2 1/2 points, while Borg-Warner showed a net loss of 2 1/2 points. Most of the other radio and motor issues were moderately lower.
In the general list, Great Lakes
Dredges rallied 14 points on light trading. Associated Apparel advanced three points, and Construction Material gained a point. Irregular financial issues were shown by the Chicago corporation issues. Club Alumini, Great Lakes Aircraft, Inland Utilities, and Utilities and Industrial common.
Further evidence of the growing importance of the Chicago Stock exchange appeared yesterday when it was announced that Chicago stock quotations will be made a part of the Associated Press service this month. Prices will be given twice a day to newspaper men over an automatic wire, printer circuit connected with the floor of the exchange.
The exchange now operates 226 dollars in 25 cities. Trading so far this year has totaled 16 million shares more than in any full year prior to 1922, and the price of membership has mounted from $3,000 to about $8,000 in the last two or three years.

relieved for another year.
The American Foundry and Machine
Co. announced that it is joining in the organization of three foreign investment companies. The company already controls four American investment companies whose combined revenues and those of the founders corporation total more than $150,000,000.
The three companies in which it is investing or organizing will deal in German securities, south European securities, and South American securities, respectively. It was stated.

clared an initial payment of 25 peron its common stock.

from 35 previously paid. This is the

in the dividend rate.

You are Paying for a Packard Why not Own One?

SEVENTY per cent of those who buy the Packard Standard Eight give up other makes of cars—thousands in the ten to fifteen hundred dollar class. These new owners quickly learn—

That it costs no more to operate and maintain a Packard than their old cars—cars costing even a thousand dollars less.

And that it costs no more to own a Packard because Packard owners keep their cars nearly twice as long and drive them nearly twice as far as the lower-priced cars they trade in.

Those who buy on the payment plan find—

That they keep their cars several times as long as it takes to pay for them—a relief to those who have made monthly payments every other year on other cars.

And that on the average, the value of their used cars equals or exceeds the down payment on the new car—leaving each small monthly payment the largest cash outlay in the having of a Packard.

Ninety-four out of every hundred who buy Packard cars never leave the Packard family but continue to buy Packard cars—proof that "Ask The Man Who Owns One" means just what it says.

THE MEDBURY
FORT MURDER
By GEORGE LINNELLUS

SYNOPSIS

Maj. Hugh Preece of the Royal Army Medical Corps has just been transferred from Medbury, which is not far from London. He is about to leave his office on day to take his wife and children for a ride when Lieut. Leman is announced and he has to stay and examine him. The lieutenant is suffering from a mild disorder and the major prescribes for him. After the young officer leaves Maj. Preece remembers that he has seen him before under embarrassing circumstances. The visit puts the major in a somewhat mood. He recalls his first love affair with Prunella Lake, an actress on the London stage, then his being sent to West Africa and his unhappiness at passing from Prunella.

On his return to London Preece again meets Prunella. He asks her to marry him and she refuses. Shortly afterwards she marries Tremaine Ross. Preece marries Claire Chabot, sister of one of his West African associates.

A few years later Prunella and Hugh meet at Swindon, where they spend the night together. Preece remembers seeing Lieut. Leman in the hotel corridor as he leaves Prunella's room in the morning.

A few days after Lieut. Leman's professional call on Maj. Preece, the younger officer writes the older one into his room for a nightcap and tells him he is aware of his affair with Lady Ross. Preece has an impulse to kill him, but refrains. He threatens to expose him and asks him to come into his room. He tells Preece that he has lost heavily at cards to Leman and the latter is pressing him for the debt.

Preece goes to his own room and reads a letter from Prunella in which she says that Leman had written asking to see her and she tells Preece that he must get rid of Leman. The next morning Lieut. Leman is found dead in bed. Capt. Wagon, in charge of the fort, notifies the police. The local police sergeant calls in Scotland Yard and Detective Inspector Hume is put in charge of the investigation.

INSTALLMENT XXXIII
A MEDICAL OPINION.

Harris wheeled round and faced the chief inspector. "I think I must tell you that I myself had a damn good reason for hating Leman. He had an I. O. U. of mine for a hundred pounds, and he had threatened to tell the C. O. about it. It's been on my mind and I thought I had better tell you frankly."

"Just as well," returned the other, "especially as we knew all about the matter. We found the I. O. U. Don't be alarmed! There will be no need for anything to come out, and we do not think that this formed a sufficient motive for you to have murdered your brother officer."

"Good, I'm relieved to have got it off my chest, though."

McMaster finished his tea and prepared to leave. "By the way," he said, "did you happen to try Leman's door yourself before it was broken open?"

"No, I'd heard Leman's batman rattling the handle and shaking the door for some time before I came out of my room."

"Did you notice any one else try the handle?"

"No, I don't think any one did actually try it. It was locked, though, alright. Leman always locked his door at night."

"I see. Well, good-by. Thanks for the tea."

"I give you my idea, though I could hardly give this in evidence."

Downstairs, in the guard room, the chief collected the affable lance corporal as a guide and strolled round the fort. Mounting the steps which led to one of the old gun emplacements, he walked along the broad summit of the outer wall. He satisfied himself that there was no possible means of access to the officers' quarters from this direction. Descending to the parade ground once more, followed by the lance corporal, whose stream of chatter had not so far fallen even momentarily, he walked across to the barrack block at the opposite side of the square.

"This is my room, 'ere," the lance corporal indicated a small barrack room on the ground floor level. "On'y just four of us, yer see! Messel, Mason, Brandwick and Jenkins."

"All here on the Monday night?"

"Monday, let's see! There was on'y me an' Mason. Swandick, 'e was on guard. Jenkins was admitted to 'ospital on Monday. I remember, 'e was in 'ospital for the roll at 'lights art', there wasn't nobody to call the roll 'cept meself."

"What about Mason?"

"'E wasn't there then. 'E was on duty at the officers' mess that night."

"When did he come in?"

"Well, I can't say, 'cos I was asleep w'en 'e come in. I never seed 'im 'till next mornin'." 'e chattered about, wakin' me up after me beauty sleep, about 'till four; an' then 'e come back 'till an hour later an' tells me all about the bloody murder."

"Half past four?"

"Terve, 'e 'ad to call the bloke quarter to five, I think."

Before leaving the fort, McMaster climbed up to the ante-room and took leave of the subaltern.

"By the way," said as he turned to go, "I wonder if I could just glance through the—er—documents of the men in your company?"

In the orderly room several bulky piles of greasy looking blue army forms were presented for his inspection.

"Duplicate attestations?" he inquired. "This pile, 'Blanc."

He skimmed through the numerous sheets, pausing twice to examine an entry more closely, once jotting down a few words in a notebook.

"Thanks very much," he said, rising, "quite surprising what a lot of useful information you can dig out of a soldier's duplicate attestation. I must be off. Good-by, and with a pleasant smile, he had gone."

When he reached the Yard, the chief learned that Paton had not returned from his excursion to Mayne. He stepped across to a room nearly opposite his own and opened the door.

"Good, doctor, you're in."

"Afternoon, chief," returned the police surgeon, "what can I do for you?"

"Touching this Medbury Fort affair," replied the other, sinking into an armchair and lighting a cigar. "I want any further details you can give me about the actual cause of death."

The surgeon pressed the tip of his fingers together and glanced with surprise at the chief inspector.

"You've seen my report?" he asked stiffly.

"Yes, yes," returned McMaster hurriedly, "most full and excellent, but the report only describes the nature of the wound and the cause of death. What I should like to hear is your opinion as to what weapon was used and how it was employed."

"All I can say about the probable weapon used is that it must have been a long knife—not less than eight inch blade—very strong and of a razor edge sharpness."

"How do you imagine the wound was inflicted?"

"The method is clear from the appearance of the skin on the sides of the incision: one sweeping cut was made, the knife being drawn towards the person holding it; and considerable pressure was exerted."

"Do you think the murderer had a knowledge of anatomy?"

"Very hard to say. The cut was made between two cervical vertebrae, but the knife would naturally follow the path of least resistance. Again, the murderer evidently turned his victim over—Leman was in what amounted to a drugged sleep owing to the veronal—by the way, the analysis of the contents of the stomach confirms that—he turned Leman over on his face and bent the head forward. In such a position the divisions between the vertebrae were clearly seen; no knowledge of anatomy would be required to cut between them."

"Then you think . . ."

"I give you my idea, though I could hardly give this in evidence."

The chief nodded and the surgeon continued: "The incision was unique. It was the work of a skilled hand. There was no hesitation. The cut was clean, efficient and ruthless . . . like a surgeon's. I say ruthless for this reason: no one, unless he is accustomed to it by training, can make a deep incision into living flesh without a reaction. You can see it in the first major incision into living flesh without a reaction. The reaction may take the form, merely, of operation by a student at hospital. The reaction may become entirely unconscious, as in the case of a patient who has been operated on many times. In this case, if it had, the evidence of the wound would be unmistakable. The reaction, you may depend upon it, was made by some person absolutely conscious of his skill, and thoroughly inured to the sight of blood, and no forthright and the peculiar feel of a knife cutting through the living tissues."

"That is extremely interesting, doctor. I'm much obliged."

"McMaster rose to go, when the surgeon continued: 'You understand that in 'opinion?' It would be difficult for me to give that as evidence in court—as well as, in the circumstances, extremely unpleasant."

"Quite so, doctor. Not pleasant to be turned to the doctor, 'I may be wrong, but I will, doctor," he smiled, as he turned to the door, "I may be wrong, but I don't think you'll mind giving your opinion in court when the time comes."

Good Morning!
"Syncopation" isn't so hard to take. It is in no way an unusual number and the story it tells of Broadway and theatrical folk has few extraordinary features. But the characters are types you recognize, and events in their jumbled lives are detailed interestingly enough, with occasional refreshing bits of shrewd humor and irony.

The film features considerable music by Warriner Pennington, much of which, due to the indisposition of the phonograph, sounds as if it came off your old phonograph records at home. The phonograph, though slowly recovering from its nervous indigestion, still is far from well. Between convulsions, however, it reproduces some of the music and some of the dialogue fairly well.

This is the picture in which Barbara Bennett (Richard's daughter) appears as one of a team of vaudeville dancers. She has much poise, can dance some and knows how to talk. Bobby Watson, as her husband, is a society girl, who goes in for interior decorating, is okay.

By this time Madame Blossom is in the cast and Dorothy Lee as a dumbbell, and Verne Teasdale as a society girl, who goes in for interior decorating, is okay.

Miss Bennett, as one Flo, dances in vaudeville with her husband, Benny. He, deeply in love with her, is content with things as is Flo, however, is a headstrong, ambitious, and partner, in a peach. Nice and natural and knows his stuff. All the men in the cast do well and Dorothy Lee as a dumbbell, and Verne Teasdale as a society girl, who goes in for interior decorating, is okay.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Hollywood, Cal., April 9.—Charlie Chaplin has threatened to quit United Artists, the film corporation of which he is an owner-member, if it goes through with a $20,000,000 hookup with Warner Brothers.

According to Chaplin's representatives at his studio, Charlie has been so dissatisfied with some recent conditions in his association with other members of United Artists that he may retire and pursue his way alone, no matter what happens to the Warner merger.

This tells a story of a roving theatrical troupe, "Blossom's Varieties," who land in Dallys, Algeria, where they entertain in a cafe.

The troupe is manned by a roustabout, Monsieur Blossom and a vicious temper Madame Blossom. The latter is a whip cracker and insanely jealous of her husband. When she takes violent vengeance on a native girl who works with her in her act Betty Bronson as Jean, a waif from Paris, who is also with the show, is given her place.

Jean's skin is darkened by Madame Blossom so she appears native. Thus she attracts two servants of the pasha, who say, "Our master wants a new dancing girl. What say we buy this beautiful maiden?"

By this time Madame Blossom is jealous of Jean and is willing to listen to sales talk. And Jean has quite an experience, from which we hasten to tell you, she escapes unscathed.

Mischa Elman Plays
Again with Chicago
Symphony; Triumphs
BY EDWARD MOORE.

The second part of the Chicago Symphony orchestra program sounded a bit this yesterday afternoon, which, one hastens to add, was not in the least the fault of that admirable violinist, Mischa Elman, who played the solo part of the music, nor of Mr. Stock, who conducted it, but of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, who wrote it. For the Mendelssohn violin concerto came a short interval after Mr. Stock's concert excerpts from the third act of Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," and the contrast made it seem somewhat washed out, not to say anemic.

It is not that Mr. Elman did not give a great performance. He did. He comes near to having the most gorgeous tone of all of the notables of the violin, the technical performance that gives him pause has yet to be found, and he is a true musician in mind and soul. Also, the weather was kinder to his violin than it was last week and permitted it to be more seemly in its pitch relations with the rest of the orchestra.

But the competition of the first part of the program was heavy. The list began with the gay "Liebesfrühling" overture by Georg Schumann, and continued with Thorwald Otterström's "Elek, Chorale, and Fugue," a veritable architect's drawing of all the excellences desired by all composers, displaying three works of diverse character, founded upon one theme, and all sounding melodiously on the ear, to say nothing of defying the most microscopic fault-finding in any of all the rules and regulations of canonic and fugue construction.

Then came the slow movement from Gile's "Illa Mourmets," the section having to do with "Solovet, the Brigand" in that blithe tale. Finally there was the "Tristan and Isolde" music, and a heavenly performance it was. In about twenty-eight of the twenty-eight weeks of the orchestra's season there is reason to express appreciation for Mr. Stock. When he approaches Wagner, it seems as though in all the world there is no one like him.

Hila Vanden Bosch, pianist, appeared in a recital at Kimball hall last night in a program consisting of a group by Bach and Franck, another by modern composers, and a third by Chopin. She would seem to have been a painstaking student of the piano, having developed a fairly good set of fingers for the performance of music and of ideas for its interpretation, though not quite good enough in either category to give the Franck "Prelude, Chorale and Fugue" an ideal rendition in the matters of clarity and expressiveness.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five
Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask, and name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, For today's question Mrs. L. E. Sharpe, 2114 East Seventeenth street, was awarded $5.

The Question.
What do you think of the Vice President Curtis social war on behalf of Mrs. Gann?

The Answer.
Mrs. Margaret Condos, 1215 East 83d street, beauty shop proprietor—It is proper that Vice President Curtis should have a hostess, and the only available person seems to be his sister, Mrs. Gann, but Mr. Curtis made a mountain out of a mole hill.

Alfred A. Kippel, 1708 Westburne avenue, advertising salesman—The Vice President ought to have his say on that subject. The Vice President knows what he wants and if he chooses to place Mrs. Gann in that social position, I believe she belongs there.

Mrs. L. L. Stroben, 5553 Kenmore avenue, designer—That little point in social etiquette is stirring up considerable discussion as well as furnishing a certain amount of amusement throughout the country. Inasmuch as Mrs. Gann is a truly American woman, it is hard to see why she should not rank as high as any of the wives of foreign diplomats.

T. A. Davis, 552 Lakeside place, salesman—I am of the opinion that Mrs. Gann should have the social position that custom has decreed belongs to the wife of a Vice President. Mrs. Gann is acting in the capacity of hostess for President Curtis and is entitled to uphold the social position belonging to the Vice President.

Miss Peggy Vail, 5533 Kenmore avenue, secretary—The people elected Mr. Curtis to the position of Vice President; Mr. Curtis elected to elevate Mrs. Gann to the position of official hostess for him. This, automatically endows Mrs. Gann with the social privileges that would be accorded Mrs. Curtis were she living.

Miss Mary Kennedy (Mrs. Deems Taylor) has been hired by the Theater Guild of New York to perform in its impending venture with "The Camel Through the Needle's Eye."

Arthur Hammerstein, who was eager to have the New York theater bearing his name called the Temple of Music, says that in his next song-and-dance show he will dispense with a live orchestra and use instead a mechanical accompaniment. The announcement brings from Mr. Ziegfeld an audible snort of disgust.

Among the plays bulletined for early try-out is one named "The Come-On Man," by Herbert Ashton, author of "Brothers," in which Bert Lytell has been for some weeks performing in New York.

The Marx Brothers, who last Saturday ended their New York run in "Animal Crackers," are headlining next week in New York's principal variety-theater at what is said to be "turn" in a Keith-Orpheum house.

State Representative John W. Lewis of Marshall, Clark county, states that a roll call on the passage of the Emerson three-cent gasoline tax bill published in The Tribune of March 21 reported his vote incorrectly. He voted for the bill. Representative F. W. Lewis of Robinson voted against it.

Tracy C. Drake, secretary treasurer of Northeastern Association of Delta Kappa Epsilon, calls The Tribune's attention to an error in yesterday's paper in which D. K. E. was designated as a sorority. The organization is one of the oldest college fraternities.

THEATER

GEORGE JESSEL, here last winter in "The War-Song," will headline next week in the Palace; whether in a monologue or a sketch is not stated in the bulletin from the management.

Before he ended his tour in "The War-Song," Mr. Jessel intimated that he would give the best part of the next three years to making movies; sound-movies, that is. I don't know how good or how bad he may be as an actor for film; save only Chaplin, any film-actor seems to me to be just as good as any of the others; but I know that he has a gift for the stage, as he proved in both "The War-Song" and "The Jazz-Singer." No other actor of Tiddish characters since Wardfield specialized in them has been nearly so effective as Jessel in the tear-and-laugh technique.

A note from George White says that he has entered into a new contract with Ed Wynn whereby the latter will receive $7,500 a week "with a bonus to follow."

Miss Gertrude Lawrence, who is known in Chicago only because of her appearance in one issue of the Charlot Revue, is definitely hired to perform the principal feminine role in "By Candlelight," a comedy by Siegfried Geyer. The importer of the play, Gilbert Miller, says he will cast and stage the play in England, try it out in the provincial towns there, and then bring it to this country.

Wallace Ford, last here in "Broadway," and Miss Helen Lowell, recently here in the sludge called "Skidding," are to have the principal characters in "The Nut-Farm," which is to be tried out later this month in Cleveland. If it looks good there, it is intimated, the piece will be sent to Chicago. The author is John Brownell.

Garland Anderson, the Negro bellhop from San Francisco who wrote "Appearances," says he has written a new piece, "Extortion," wherein all the characters are white.

"The Devil's Mistress," recently taken off for recasting to make it look good in New York, has, it is now explained, been put away until the Autumn.

Earl Carroll, who is said to have one of the capacity New York successes in "Floretta," says he will export last year's Vanities to London, and will start a new issue in New York.

The theater in New York learning his name is to be used as a two-day movie-house, and his forthcoming Vanities will be put into a house hitherto used for movies, the Colony.

Miss Betty Starbuck, here last season in "Peggy-Ann," and Billy Taylor, who seems to have made a hit in New York six-act play with Miss Starbuck in "Hello, Daddy!" are named as important principals in "Two Is Company," a song-and-dance show in preparation by Owen Davis, Lorenz Hart, and Richard Rodgers.

Miss Mary Kennedy (Mrs. Deems Taylor) has been hired by the Theater Guild of New York to perform in its impending venture with "The Camel Through the Needle's Eye."

Arthur Hammerstein, who was eager to have the New York theater bearing his name called the Temple of Music, says that in his next song-and-dance show he will dispense with a live orchestra and use instead a mechanical accompaniment. The announcement brings from Mr. Ziegfeld an audible snort of disgust.

Among the plays bulletined for early try-out is one named "The Come-On Man," by Herbert Ashton, author of "Brothers," in which Bert Lytell has been for some weeks performing in New York.

The Marx Brothers, who last Saturday ended their New York run in "Animal Crackers," are headlining next week in New York's principal variety-theater at what is said to be "turn" in a Keith-Orpheum house.

State Representative John W. Lewis of Marshall, Clark county, states that a roll call on the passage of the Emerson three-cent gasoline tax bill published in The Tribune of March 21 reported his vote incorrectly. He voted for the bill. Representative F. W. Lewis of Robinson voted against it.

Freed Women
Not a Curse,
Hearers VoteChicago Wins Debate
from Harvard.

"Emancipated woman" is not a curse, according to the vote of an audience chiefly of University of Chicago students last night at Mendenhall after Harvard university and University of Chicago debating teams argued the question for almost two hours.

The leader of the Harvard team, Brooks Otis, maintained that "emancipated" means "freed from ancient inhibitions." He and his two conferees, Jackson Hurd and J. Mack Swigert, contended that an emancipated woman is not only an liberated educationally and politically, but one who strives to place herself exactly in the status of a man, seeking a career. In many cases, they pointed out, she has confused liberty with license, involving herself in evils that harm her and society.

Because of her newness in liberty she does not know how to use her freedom, losing sight of the virtues that have characterized her for centuries, and not playing the social game squarely with man whom she attempts to emulate.

"Not because of her emancipation but because of her manner of using freedom do we say that emancipated woman is a curse," Mr. Swigert declared. He added that the direction woman has taken has undermined all home life and has let down the last check on the material trend of man's ambition.

Leonard Greatwood, leader of the University of Chicago team, declared that "emancipation" means "the freeing of bonds that hold in

It's Not Enough to Be Slender, Lady; You Must Be Supple, Too

Now that you have your figure down to the exact proportions that please you most, what are you going to do with it? It isn't enough, according to the new technique of beauty, that your form be simply a weight machine exhibit. No, slenderness is no more the way, even after a long period of fast and abstinence. Immediately one perfection is attained it is the way of life and living that a new world must be conquered or the old is lost. You can't sit back and say: "Well, I did it! One hundred and twenty-five in my stocking feet." You've got to figure it there's anything you can now do with the 125 pounds to make them more beautiful. What might there be the matter with the rejuvenated form? Well, it might be stiff, oldish, graceless. Indeed, it might very well be without the rhythm of bodily movement that typified beauty at its Spartan zenith. It seems, the editor thinks, that it is not enough to achieve perfect measurements, but there must be perfect grace of movement, too. And if you stand upon a street corner any day of any week you'll appreciate the fact that pioneer work is only begun in this regard. On a busy corner you'll run out of counting figures if you attempt to record the numbers of women on whose grace of movement is ruined by walking with projected knees. If the knees aren't evident the way the feet are planted will give them away. Rhythm classes are not available to the many, but there are few houses that do not boast some sort of music-making machine which may be turned on and danced about to in the interests of a more divine form. The form divine is the next world to conquer after fat has been deleted off. To paraphrase one Plato: "Where beautiful measurements harmonize with beautiful movements and the two are cast in one mold that will be the fairest of sights to him who has an eye to see it."

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

So many new varieties of vegetables have been produced during the last twenty-five years that even the experienced gardener finds it difficult to decide which seed to buy. Frequently the name of a bean or cabbage variety means little or nothing to the average beginner. Recommendations made by expert gardeners are helpful to the amateur and often mean the difference between success and failure. Below are the varieties of common vegetables recommended by horticulturists of the University of Minnesota. These varieties do well in Minnesota where gardens are often subjected to severe weather than they are in this locality. The lists given here are for both the small and the large garden. For small gardens plant the following kinds of vegetables (the variety is given after each vegetable): Beans (wax)—Brittle wax, Golden wax, Beans (green)—Stringless Green Pod, Beans (lima)—Dwarf preferred, except in favored locations. Best—Dwarfed, Belpa, Egyptian, Carrots—Chantenay, Danvers Half Long, Lettuce (head)—Grand Rapids, Black Seeded Simpson, Iceberg, Lettuce (head)—Big Boston, Hanson, Onions (sets)—Any color or kind. Peas (early)—Alaska, Marvel, Excelsior, Peas (late)—Telephone, Profusion, Radishes—Scarlet Globe, Icicle, Spinach—Bloomsdale, New Zealand, Tomatoes (early)—Earlston, Red River, Bonny Best, Tomatoes (late)—Globe, Golden Queen (yellow). For larger gardens these gardeners advise using all the above and the following in addition: Pole beans (green)—Kentucky Wonder, Pole beans (shell)—Horticultural, Cabbage (early)—Golden Acre, Wakefield, Copenhagen, Cabbage (late)—Danish Ball, Cabbage—White Splend, Half Long, Cauliflower—Bartlett, Snowball, Egg plant—New York Spineless, Black Beauty, Parsnips—Hollow Crown, Guernsey Peppers—Belle, Ruby King, Cayenne, Potatoes—Early Ohio, Irish Cobbler, Triumph, Green Mountain, Squash (summer)—Scalloped, Crookneck, Squash (winter)—Kitchennette, Hubbard, Table Queen.

Sea Full of Romance, and Her Book Is Selling Well

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] New York, April 9. — Simon and Schuster, publishers of the best seller, "The Grapes of Wrath," issued as the autobiography of Joan Lowell, written by her and telling the story of her early life aboard her father's windjammer, today issued a statement declaring in part: "We now discover that there is a considerable larger element of romantic fact interwoven with the underlying sequence of truthful narrative than we had at first realized." The statement was issued in connection with the controversy over the book which has followed the disclosure that the book's autobiographical veracity and authenticity had been contested. Miss Lowell herself has admitted that she took certain liberties with facts in the narrative of her life at sea.

Charles Daniels, Attorney, Noted 'Early Riser,' Dies

Charles Daniels, veteran Chicago attorney and known as the champion early riser among business men in the city, died at his home, 5 West Oak street, yesterday at the age of 73. Mr. Daniels attained fame some twenty years ago by his fixed habit of going to work at 3 o'clock in the morning. In later years, according to friends, he had delayed his arrival at the office until 4 a. m. Graduated from Harvard in 1873. Mr. Daniels was a member of the South Shore Country club, the Harvard club, and the University club. He is survived by his widow and a son.

Modern Orphanage System Respects Child's Individuality

By Sally Joy Brown

There are people who think that modern educators and modern mothers are making a fetish of the developing of a child's individuality—or, as I'd rather put it, of the respecting of a child's individuality. They don't realize, I suppose, that it's this very distinctness of personality, this very difference of people, gives variety to society and achievement. Fortunately, individuality will out, or the world would be a stupid and monotonous place to live in. The point we make is that we want to set it free as much as possible, not to fetter it and not to pander to it.

It might interest these hardheaded reactionaries to know that it isn't just fancy educators or high falutin' idealists who advocate the study of each child as an individual. The actual practical need of such handling has been driven in upon them in every field who work with human beings, whether normal, abnormal, criminal, young or old. Those, for instance, in charge of such institutions as orphanages, asylums, recognize this to such an extent that they go deliberately about the study of the individual child.

Miss Ethel Veery, Superintendent of the Chicago Orphan Asylum, made an interesting statement to this effect in addressing the Child Welfare League of America. She said: "I have never been in favor of institutions for child care, and I am not certain that I am now entirely converted. But the institution of today and that of yesterday are vastly different things."

"One of the latest developments in institutional organization is the employment of the case worker inside the institution. It builds self-respect and personality in a child. Institutions now are trying to make the child better, instead of putting him out merely because he doesn't conform to the rule of the place."

Incidentally, what Mrs. Edith Taylor of Boston said is of interest as bearing on the same idea of the advantages of individual interest—that psychiatric studies of delinquent children in Massachusetts prove that proper foster-home atmosphere can work wonders in correcting criminal tendencies in children. The foster-home "fosters" individuality as no institution possibly can. (Copyright, 1935, By The Chicago Tribune.)

Opera Seat Subscription Is Best Ever, It's Reported

The greatest subscription sale in the history of opera in Chicago has been recorded for the first season in the new Civic Opera house, Market and Madison streets, Manager Herbert M. Johnson announced last night. The sales have already exceeded by 10 percent the total sales for the 1935-'36 season, Mr. Johnson said.

Renewals by holders of the main floor and more expensive balcony seats and an unusually large number of mail subscriptions were given as the two causes for the increase.

Devil's Food Cake.

The following recipe was given me by a college girl who got it from a woman in a university town, who used it most successfully and happily. I printed it, some one failed on it and wrote to me that the cake would not rise and that it had a rank smell, but others tried it and praised the cake highly. She said it was of a good red color, but she had tried three times and did not get the desired results because she thought the batter was too thin, perhaps. I remembered that in testing it I thought the cup of milk allowed could be entirely spared, but it is hard to settle a question like that. Chocolate will thicken a liquid, and perhaps some chocolate will thicken more than others.

This recipe has a first and second part, as perhaps all true devil's food cake recipes have:

One cup of brown sugar, three ounces or three squares of a pound cake of chocolate, and one cup of strong coffee. Roll these together and cool. It is our own opinion that the chocolate should be melted and mixed with the rest without boiling, for the best effects.

One cup of brown sugar, one-half cup of butter, one cup of sweet milk, two eggs, two cups of flour, one teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon of vanilla.

Cream the butter thoroughly and add the sugar, working all to a cream. Beat the eggs without separating them. Sift the dry ingredients and add them alternately to the creamed mixture with the chocolate preparation also added alternately. The vanilla flavoring may be added to the chocolate mixture or put in finally. If this is baked in thin sheets at a 350 degree temperature, it will take about eighteen minutes to cook it.

A fudge cake that is simple and good may be made by the following formula: One cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, one egg, three-fourths cup sweet milk, or the original recipe called for a mixture of half evaporated milk and half water to equal a whole three-fourths of a cup of liquid, one cup of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon of vanilla, two squares of chocolate. Cream the butter, work the sugar into it and the yolk of the egg, add the milk, then the flour, a little salt and baking powder all sifted together.

The newest addition to the work of the university, following within a few months on creation of an institute for research in law, was provided by action of the trustees, who also created two new degrees, master of education and doctor of education. State Puts Million Fish Into Lake at Waukegan

Following out its plan to stock Lake Michigan with fish in order to stave off the threatening extinction of the commercial fishing business in Waukegan, the state fish and game department started yesterday by depositing approximately one million young fish into the water of the Waukegan harbor. The stocking will continue until twelve million fish have been put in the lake.

"Fresh yeast stimulates intestinal action," says England's Great Surgeon

SIR W. ARBUTHNOT LANE, Bart., C. B.

Four years ago Sir W. Arbuthnot Lane founded the now famous New Health Society, which is teaching millions how to lead healthier lives. He is a Baronet, Companion of the Bath and Chevalier of the Legion of Honor; Fellow, Royal College of Surgeons; President, Fellowship of Medicine; Consulting Surgeon Guy's Hospital and Hospital for Sick Children. He is the creator of modern methods of surgery copied throughout the world.

"Constipation is the curse of civilization, the disease of diseases. A shortage of Vitamin B is responsible for and aggravates this complaint."

"Yeast is particularly rich in Vitamin B. It stimulates intestinal action and has a most important effect on constipation and its related digestive troubles and diseases. The diet of our community suffers from a shortage of Vitamin B, which deficiency is most readily made up by fresh yeast."

W. Arbuthnot Lane

Throat, stomach, intestines form one continuous tube. Here 90% of illness begins, as poisons from a clogged colon quickly spread and attack your weakest spot. But here yeast works, keeping your digestive and intestinal tract clean, active, healthy. Start using Fleischmann's Yeast today! For full benefit you must eat it regularly and over a sufficient period of time.

WHEN Sir William Arbuthnot Lane speaks the world listens!

Long famous as a brilliant surgeon, Sir Arbuthnot is today recognized as one of the greatest exponents of preventive medicine, health education and dietetic reform that England has ever known. He has devoted his life to the study of the intestinal tract.

In a recent interview Sir Arbuthnot made the characteristically forceful statement that constipation is "civilization's curse." In his opinion constipation can be overcome through the important corrective food—fresh yeast.

In this he reflects the view of enlightened medical opinion everywhere. In a recent survey covering every state in the United States, half the doctors reporting said they prescribed fresh yeast for constipation and the indigestion, skin disorders and other ills to which it leads.

Unlike dangerous cathartic drugs, which "scour out" only the lower intestine, fresh yeast keeps the entire digestive and intestinal tract naturally clean, active—healthy.

Fleischmann's Yeast is fresh—not dried or "killed." In every cake are millions of living, active yeast plants. As these pass through your intestines daily they combat poisons, purify the whole system. When constipation goes, digestion has a clear track ahead! Appetite picks up. Your skin clears. Your whole being awakens to new vigor and alertness!

Eat 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily, one cake before each meal or between meals, plain or dissolved in water either cold or hot—not hotter than you can drink. At all grocers and many leading cafeterias, lunch counters and soda fountains. Buy 2 or 3 days' supply at a time and keep in any cool, dry place.
